Failure Could Mean War 'In Hours'—Wilson

Gulf Solution Race Against Time

WASHINGTON (AP)—British Prime Minister Wilson warned Friday that failure to end peacefully Egypt's declared blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba could lead to not only a local war in the Middle East but a much larger conflict "in a matter of hours."

Wilson held a press conference at the British Embassy after spending several hours in conference with President Johnson on the Middle East crisis.

He said the U.S. and Britain are seeking a peaceful solution through action in the United Nations Security Council and through issuance of a declaration on the blockade issue by the world's maritime powers.

The declaration would assert that the gulf and the entrance to it through the Strait of Tiran constitute an international waterway for all shipping; Israel has announced it will sign the declaration, so its shipping would be covered.

Wilson raised the question whether the Egyptian announcement of the blockade two weeks ago, primarily against Israeli shipping, was a threat and whether the blockade would in fact be enforced. If it cannot be avoided, he said, and if it is enforced "then I believe there is a very, very dangerous state in which not only a local conflict but a much larger conflict might be only a matter of hours."

Russia linked the situation in the Middle East, where it is backing Egypt, with the war in Vietnam. Wilson replied he was aware of a number of the theories about Soviet positions linking the two.

But he said he thought Soviet motives in the Middle East "were more connected with their view of their influence in the Middle East than with any deep to Southeast Asia."

Live-In For Lice

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hippie hair styles may be responsible for the return of the louse, the director of medical services for Vancouver schools said Thursday.

Dr. Harold Maghann said some instances of head lice have been discovered in Vancouver schools and said the hippies' long hair fashions may be at fault.

It may be because the long-haired boys don't shampoo or comb their hair often.

Refused Order

Tribunal Convicts Physician

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—A military tribunal Friday convicted Capt. Howard B. Levy of disobeying an order to train U.S. Special Forces medics and with promoting a disloyalty among United States troops.

Levy, 38, a dermatologist from Brooklyn, N.Y., stood between two lawyers as the verdict was read after nearly six hours of deliberation by the 10-member court tribunal.

Levy's sentence will be decided today. He could receive up to 11 years in prison on five charges.

The trial, which produced unprecedented defence theories, began May 10. But the judge ruled out both the defence efforts to prove that special forces troops committed war crimes and that Levy's medical ethics gave him the right to disobey an order.

In a military trial the tribunal decides the sentence.

Big Crush for Convention

Victory Within Reach Strachan Tells NDP

VANCOUVER (CP)—New Democrat leader Robert Strachan predicted Friday night his party will form the next government in British Columbia.

He said the party's 1966 provincial election by gaining another six per cent of the popular vote the next time around.

Mr. Strachan, 53, was addressing the opening session of the party's annual convention at a high school auditorium in suburban Burnaby. He recapped the party's progress during the past year and the last session of the B.C. legislature. (See also Page 24)

"The NDP got 260,000 votes and increased its percentage of the popular vote in the election last September from 21 per cent to 34 per cent," said Mr. Strachan. "A similar increase in the next election will make us the next government of British Columbia."

During his report to the 450 convention delegates from throughout B.C., Mr. Strachan stressed away from the leadership challenge issued by Vancouver MLA Tom Berger.

New Democrats will vote tonight on the leadership. Mr. Strachan, 34, is giving Mr. Strachan the first serious competition for the job since he was elected party leader in 1958.

Mr. Strachan said the NDP made substantial progress

Strachan

under his leadership in the past year. He said the 16 party members in the 55-seat legislature had done an effective job in "keeping the government off-balance."

Illustrating his performance as a party leader, the Vancouver Island member from Cowichan-Malahat said he had visited universities, public schools, industrial plants, farm and labor conventions promoting the NDP platform.

He drew a standing ovation

VETO THREAT CLOUDING UN

From CP, UPI, AP

While gloom spread Friday among United Nations diplomats who saw few prospects of any Security Council action that might cool the Middle East crisis, reports from Britain indicated that Russia has no intention of joining the Arabs in a "holy war" against Israel.

U.S. sources said Ambassador Arthur Goldberg is determined to press to a vote his motion calling on all UN parties to heed Secretary-General Thant's call for restraint so as to give international diplomacy time to work out a peaceful solution.

The council is scheduled to meet again in an unusual Saturday session at 10 a.m. EDT.

SHORT OF VOTES

But there was no assurance that the U.S. draft resolution would win the required nine votes in the 15-power council. Even if it did, it was regarded as almost certain to encounter a Soviet veto. (See also Page 7.)

Non-permanent council members, including Canada, persisted in efforts to come up with a compromise resolution that would limit itself to an appeal for utmost restraint by all sides. India, Denmark and Ethiopia were taking the leading roles in these efforts, but there was doubt that such a mild approach to a crisis issue would satisfy a majority of the members.

NO DIRECT SHARE

Russia was reported Friday to have hinted to its Syrian and Egyptian allies they must not expect direct Soviet support if they start a "holy war" for extermination of Israel.

There was no official confirmation of these reports. But diplomatic circles gave them

Rampage in Sinai?

Ottawa Denies Damage Story

BELGRADE (AP)—The Yugoslav official news agency Tanjug in a report from Cairo said Canadian soldiers in the United Nations forces in the Sinai Peninsula destroyed equipment belonging to the United Nations before they left for Canada.

A Canadian Press report from Ottawa said a Canadian forces headquarters spokesman denied categorically Friday night the Yugoslav news agency report.

The Yugoslav agency said Canadians tried to destroy equipment for turning salt water into drinking water and that Yugoslav soldiers prevented it.

The Canadian spokesman said there was "absolutely no credibility" in the reports. The only material destroyed was Canadian-owned cipher equipment for coding use.

Poison Gas Used Says Red Cross

From AP, Reuters

GENEVA — The international Red Cross committee announced Friday a village in northern Yemen was attacked with poison gas bombs.

The committee did not identify the village or give precise details of its findings.

It expressed "deep concern over these combat measures which are absolutely banned under international law" and said it has communicated the report of its delegation in Yemen to all parties concerned in the conflict.

It invited them to give their solemn pledge "never again to use, under any circumstances, poisonous gas or any other poisonous substance."

Meanwhile, two former British cabinet ministers charged that the United Arab Republic was using poison gas in Yemen.

Duncan Sandy, former Conservative party defence minister, and Frederick Bellenger, a former Labor party secretary for war, presented a motion in the House of Commons depicting "the continued use of poison gas by the Egyptian forces in Yemen."

Egypt has denied previous allegations that it has used poison gas in Yemen where it is supporting the republican regime against the monarchists.

The Red Cross announcement said the 28-Swiss organization had ordered a medical team to the village after reports that many of its inhabitants had died of asphyxiation following an air attack.

Yemen monarchists charged that Egyptian bombers killed 75 persons in a poison gas raid on the frontier town of Wadran May 11 and that a second poison gas bombing attack killed 100 in another village May 17.

Hey, Landlords!

Strike, Rent Freeze Sparks Riot

NEW YORK (AP)—A riotous mob of 600 landlords stormed city hall Friday hunting rockets and smashing windows after a vain attempt to induce Mayor John V. Lindsay to soften rent-control laws. Two women were injured.

"We want to see our hippie mayor," a leader of the mob shouted.

The demonstrators got nowhere with Lindsay, who refused to see the leaders. The landlords were incensed over city hall efforts to end a strike of building service employees in some 1,600 rent-controlled Manhattan apartment houses.

The mayor accused the landlords of inviting the walkout to wreck rent controls.

Six glass door panes were smashed at the entrance to city hall, and a thrown stone cut the leg of Edie Radley, 28, an assistant secretary to Lindsay, who was standing 25 feet inside the foyer.

Outnumbered police turned in a riot call and at the height of the melee 150 officers fought the mob. There were two arrests.

Thousands of lunchtime strollers were attracted to the scene by the commotion.

Earlier in the day, Lindsay declared a health emergency as a result of a week-long wage strike by 5,000 members of Local 32-B, AFL-CIO Building Service Employees. He ordered sanitation men to cross picket lines and begin carting away tons of garbage that had gone uncollected because of the walkout.

The strike of superintendents and employees of rent-controlled Manhattan apartments began May 28. It cut off elevator service, mail deliveries, garbage disposal and heat and hot water for an estimated 130,000 families.

Local 32-B demanded that the landlords meet the terms of an earlier contract signed by 4,000 other Manhattan apartment owners, not under rent control. It provided an $18-a-week increase over three years of wages that averaged $5 a week.

The rent-controlled landlords contended they were willing to meet the terms, but only if the city granted them the right to increase rents to compensate for increased operating costs.

Lindsay called this a "rent freeze" and "simply a device to hold a gun at the head of the city."

droops of packets of money, messages sent through the personal column of the New York Times and finally, a five-block chase and capture.

Arguing as the mysterious "Mr. Z" who allegedly threatened by letter to destroy one of TWA's planes was Joseph Vito Grimaldi, 37, a Bowery resident who sometimes earned $22 a day as a messenger and who paid $1.50 a night for his "flop."

The FBI said Grimaldi, a slim man with gray sideburns, a clipped moustache and two-day beard, sent TWA a letter last April saying the airline

Holiday Burgers Won't Be on Sale

TO RELISH: Gourmets who wish to munch a hamburger or dog on public holidays can forget it. Labor Day, this date, members of the Canadian Restaurant Association have chosen for their next closure.

Members of the CRA have been told by the Labor Relations Board they must shut staff time and a half on statutory holidays plus a day off with pay.

All food men in B.C. will be represented at a meeting here June 14 to ask for relief from the LRB and to plan tactics. Feeling right now is that with labor accounting for the major fraction of restaurant operating costs it will be easier to shut up shop.

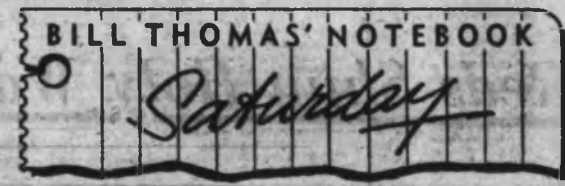

Hotel operators with restaurants say they will probably offer buffet meals to their registered guests and tell the public they are closed.

Local CRA president Bill Smith says the new rules go into effect Aug. 1 so that the Labor Day holiday will be the real test.

Better stock the freezer with supplies now so that you can enjoy a burger over the holiday.

BIG APPEAL: Chances are good for merger between the Red Cross and the Community Chest. Negotiations between the two groups have been going well.

President Graham McCall is not anxious to give the impression that his organization is trying to absorb the Red Cross but rather that the two groups can work together. Red Cross president Bill Lewis says negotiations have been going ahead slowly as his group does not want to give members the impression that the Red Cross will lose its identity.

Mr. McCall hopes that in the future the Salvation Army will also decide to join the Chest.

Harried citizens who dread the multitude of fund raisers might be happy to see Red Shield, Red Cross and Red Feather become just United Appeal. Best of luck, fellows.

ARMY UP: Militia members of 155 Company RCASC are busy with the spit and polish as they gear for competition in the Commonwealth Shield contest.

Unit commander Maj. Jack Rowe will have his troops on parade for an Ottawa inspection team Thursday. The unit has already won the western divisional flag of the event.

The unit is being tested for 24-hour parade, training and transportation.

BAD LUCK: If it had not been for a trick of history

Sophie Deane-Drummond might have been Canada's best-known woman painter. Emily Carr stole her thunder by living at the same time.

In an effort to set the quick of history to right director of the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria, Colin Graham, has organized an exhibition of the artist's work and put out a fine pamphlet on her work.

The Deane-Drummond exhibition will run at the same time as the J. P. E. McVey's bestest is exhibited, June 6 to 13.

These are probably two of the most interesting shows to be displayed at the gallery and it is anticipated they will draw large crowds.

BEST FOOT: It has been suggested by a reader that women are most consistent when stepping off on the right foot. This is supported by years of first-hand observation and the fact that the worn shoe at the back of these shoes is most scuffed on the right side.

Any further evidence in this matter would be most welcome.

Your Good Health

Habit Normal for Baby

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD.
Dear Dr. Molner: In your column you said that habitual thumb-sucking should be cured. Now?

My five-month-old son wants his thumb most of his awake time if he is fussy. I've heard many different opinions on this. Some say let nature take its course. Others say break him. — MRS. H.B.

The article you refer to applied to teen-agers or children approaching the teens who are still dependent on their thumbs. In infants, thumb-sucking is a natural pastime. The thumb is always handy for baby to use if a nipple or pacifier isn't available for solace. If a baby is tired, needs changing, is hungry, wants some petting—anything that makes him fussy—there's his thumb.

It's entirely normal and can continue up to the age of two years ordinarily. By then a youngster is finding other ways to express himself and make his wants known.

In general—dare I call it a "rule of thumb"?—if the habit continues past the age of five, it becomes a problem and requires attention.

I hope this allays your fears. Rather than be awayed by scare stories from non-professionals, it's a good idea for a mother, if she's upset about thumb-sucking, to discuss things with her pediatrician. He can soon decide, on the basis of the child's age and actions, whether it is time to start curbing the habit.

CAN CHANGE TEETH
As a child grows older, persistent thumb-sucking can change the formation of mouth and teeth. It can be an embarrassment, and at appropriate age can indicate some unfulfilled emotional need.

But at five months, don't be alarmed because baby is doing what comes naturally.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have something wrong with my eyes, black spots or lines. I went to an eye doctor, and he called it floaters. He painted the picture kind of dark, and said it could get worse. I wish you could give me a little encouragement. — MRS. A.S.

Floaters are quite common as we grow older and rarely indicate serious trouble—merely specks in the eyeball fluid. They come and go without apparent reason. There is nothing we can do except put up with them and (when examination has showed nothing serious, as in your case) not worry.

Dear Dr. Molner: I know a urinalysis for diabetes should be taken first thing in the morning. Is a test at any other time in the day a true analysis? — N.N.

You are mistaken. The urine test in the morning is the LEAST reliable for detecting early or mild diabetes. A specimen collected two hours after a large meal is more reliable. (If there is doubt, a sugar tolerance test should be done. That is a type of blood test.)

from convention delegates at the end of his speech.

The three-day convention opened slowly Friday evening when the delegates became involved in a series of tedious constitutional amendments, red tape and procedural wrangles. They spent most of the night fighting over mundane points of order as party executives attempted to steer the debate into more serious channels.

CHATTING CHEERILY

"I thought we were New Democrats—not civil servants," commented one disgruntled delegate from the B.C. Interior. The impending leadership struggle stayed in the background for the most part. Both the candidates moved freely through the packed smoke-filled auditorium chatting cheerily with delegates as the procedural debates raged.

The large number of delegates and reporters attracted by the leadership contest apparently caught the convention organizers unawares.

Seating accommodation in the convention hall was inadequate and there were virtually no facilities for newspaper, radio and television reporters.

Delegates from non-NDP ridings in the B.C. Interior are expected to determine who the party leader will be in tonight's voting. Supporters of the two candidates agree that those from other areas are divided almost evenly between Mr. Strachan and Mr. Berger.

Strachan supporters predict that 60 to 70 per cent of the delegates will back their candidate. Berger backers say it will be a 50-50 split "and could go either way."

Negro Total Shows Climb

WASHINGTON (AP)—The census bureau says the Negro population has continued to grow more rapidly than the white population in the U.S. since 1960 although the growth rates of both groups have declined. The proportion of Negroes in the total population increased to 11 per cent as of last July 1.

UN Grows Gloomy Over Cooling-Off Prospects

credence in the light of Kremlin indications to the West that Russia does not want war in the Middle East.

Moscow is bent on all-out backing of the Arabs against what is termed in the Communist-Arab jargon "American-imposed Israeli aggression" and was believed ready to pour more arms into Syria and the U.A.R. if need be.

EXTREMISTS FEARED

But Moscow appeared unwilling to become a direct party to Arab aggression in the event of a so-called "holy war," triggered by Arab elements and aimed at Israel's extermination.

Fears of an Israeli military offensive were paralleled by growing anxiety that Arab extremists, anxious to exploit the deployment of combined Arab armor against Israel might strike in the hope of liquidating the Israeli nation. In this context diplomats pointed out that Russia was among the first major powers to recognize the state of Israel in 1948, still recognizes it and still maintains full, though uneasy, diplomatic relations with Israel.

FIRST FATALITIES

Middle East tension flared Friday into a brief border clash between Israeli and Syrian soldiers that claimed the first reported fatalities of the 19-day-old crisis. An Israeli communiqué said two Israelis and one Syrian were killed in the fight near the Sea of Galilee.

An Israeli military communiqué said the fighting broke out near Kfar Hanani, about a half-mile inside Israeli territory, when a four-man Syrian sabotage team was intercepted by an Israeli patrol which engaged them.

In the fighting that followed, the communiqué said, two Israeli soldiers and one of the Syrians were killed. It said the dead Syrian was dressed in Israeli uniform and that Syrian arms and equipment were found near his body.

An Egyptian draft resolution for the UN proposing re-establishment of the UN Egyptian-Israeli armistice commission, but also blaming Israel for the crisis was given no chance for approval.

The stumbling block in the U.S. motion was a reference in the preamble to the call by Thant for the parties to "forego belligerence." Goldberg has said that in the U.S. view, belligerence would include Egyptian actions to blockade Israeli shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba.

U.A.R. foreign minister Mahmoud Riad, quoted by the semi-official Middle East News Agency, said "any collective measure by the so-called maritime powers" to try to break the Egyptian blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba would be considered an act of war.

In Paris, President de Gaulle made an effort Friday to water down the smouldering Middle East crisis and bring nearly two decades of Arab-Israeli confrontation to an international conference table.

This was said to be the main sense of a statement de Gaulle made to a meeting of the French cabinet.

The statement, read to correspondents after the cabinet session, was worded with extreme care in an effort to maintain France's public position of taking no side in the current crisis.

President Nasser has rejected a proposal made by King Hassan for an Arab summit conference to discuss the Middle East crisis.

An official announcement said Nasser sent a note to the king saying it would be difficult in present circumstances to hold the conference "because the situation in the Middle East demands constant and absolute vigilance."

would lose "not less than one" of its planes unless it paid him $100,000.

Agents said the letter was signed "Mr. Z." and demanded payment in $100 and $10 bills. How Mr. Z. planned to destroy an airplane was not specified, but TWA was taking no chances.

Receipt of the letter was acknowledged through the newspaper's classified section after TWA turned the threat over to the FBI. An undercover agent was assigned to conduct the negotiations.

A series of telephone calls followed, each too brief to be traced. Authorities said at one point Mr. Z's scheme called for a money drop from a small plane flying over a lonely beach area between the tip of Long Island and New Jersey. The signal was to be a burning "Z" sighted from the air. Officials said a cessna made several flights but no "Z" appeared and no drops were made.

The telephone calls continued, and, with the co-operation of the telephone company, the originating area was narrowed down to a section of Queens.

Friday the FBI flooded the area with 30 agents, each assigned to watch a different public telephone booth. When Mr. Z made another call to the bogus TWA representative, the agents were flashed by radio.

Grimaldi was spotted coming from a telephone booth and started to run as two FBI men closed in. He was captured after a short chase.

He was arraigned on attempted extortion charges before U.S. Commissioner Earle Bishop.

He said he had no lawyer, no money and no friends. Grimaldi, who said he received a medical discharge from the air force in 1948, said he was married once and has a son about 13 years old. But he didn't know where.

The commissioner held him in $50,000 bail for a hearing Tuesday. A spokesman for the U.S. attorney said the government will move to have him committed for psychiatric examination.

Disturbing Postures

WHILE THE AMERICAN Sixth Fleet manoeuvres near Crete with protestations of innocent intent and British war vessels are deployed under secret orders, Russian naval forces are also moving in significant numbers into the eastern Mediterranean.

These developments in the Middle East crisis do nothing to ease the tension and are in no way reassuring to the proponents of peaceful settlement.

They were expected, nevertheless. Both the United States and Great Britain have made their positions clear with regard to Egypt's blockade of the Tiran Strait, entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba, and route to the vital Israeli port of Elath.

They consider it a breach of international law.

"We cannot fail... to concentrate first and foremost on the vital need for finding a solution of the critical problem of the Gulf of Aqaba," said Lord Caradon, British foreign affairs minister. "... We consider that this must take into account not only the normal requirements of the states bordering the gulf but also the interests of all maritime powers."

Egypt's assertion of the right to close the Tiran Strait is considered contrary to all accepted international principles of right of access.

The Times observes in London, "In asserting the freedom of navigation of the gulf, Israel and Britain and the United States have the merit of international law behind them."

The principle of free navigation of international waterways is supported by the Geneva Agreement of 1958 which specifically provided for the right of "innocent passage" through the Tiran Strait, and to which Russia is a signatory.

There is an obviously comparable situation in such waterways as the Dardanelles, the Sea of Marmara and the Bosphorus, which link the Black Sea with the Mediterranean and which Turkey is in a position to close.

Would the Soviet tolerate any such action? Certainly not.

But if the fleet movements of politically opposed nations are disquieting, there is one encouraging despatch. The Egyptian ambassador to the United Nations, Awad El-Kony, has asked the Security Council to demand that "Israel respect and abide by its obligations and responsibilities" under the 1949 Egyptian-Israeli agreement, denounced by Israel in 1956 because it was believed to cloak Cairo's preparations for war. He asks for reactivation of the United Nations armistice commission on the Egyptian-Israeli border within two weeks.

It must be assumed that President Nasser would accept such a United Nations presence even though he so recently insisted on the withdrawal of the peace-keeping force.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that the UN will take full advantage of this apparently genuine safeguard for a means of settlement. Given such a safeguard, Egypt might be prepared to negotiate with reference to the tricky matter of the freedom of passage of the Tiran Strait.

Ranks Unchanged

THERE APPEARS to be some discrepancy between the plans of General Jean Victor Allard, Canada's chief of defence staff, and the public's understanding of announced policy on services' structure, rank designations and uniforms. Moreover, from his remarks at Thursday's press conference here, it would seem that decisions in these matters are largely in his hands rather than with Mr. Paul Hellyer, defence minister.

It was certainly indicated earlier that rank designations would be common to all three branches of the services, yet General Allard now discloses that "as far as I'm concerned naval personnel will all keep their ranks" and although it has been suggested to the RCAF that it follow the army system, it does not need to if it does not want to. "That is their privilege."

This seems to make sense, whereas the suggestion that admirals become generals, and so on down the line, was nothing short of farcical.

General Allard stoutly affirms there will be no change in battle dress or ceremonial uniforms of the three services unless "the people" want it.

"The people"—and it is inferred that this term embraces men of all the services—were not consulted where earlier decisions were taken, however, so that unless there has been a radical change in the thinking at national headquarters there seems little hope that their opinions will be canvassed on any future policy.

Such things may be of small moment to the man in the street, but to servicemen ceremonial uniforms are an important part of life, and there is large historical significance in the cut and color of the uniform they wear.

If General Allard's words indicate an orderly retirement from a position far from universally popular it will be widely supported.

Ex(po)cuses

NO STATISTICS are kept on things of this sort but one can bet that this is the year when more public officials, employed or elected, are going to find it necessary to attend way-paid meetings and conventions in the east than ever before. And of course, come to think of it, drop in at Expo 67.

But some of them may find it difficult to convince their superiors or the taxpayers that their journeys are essential: that their cities or provinces will collapse if they don't take part in the symposium on sewer-laying in tropical climates or the workshop on developing social environments.

Mayor Campbell of Vancouver, we note, has thought up a gimmick that provides some excuse for seven aldermen going with him to the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities in Montreal. With the full representation, they can hold a council meeting while they are there—for only an extra $1,000 to cover the expenses of the needed civic staff.

That's pretty good, but it's not brilliant. Perhaps Expo, or the city of Montreal, out of self-interest ought to try to promote better excuses for going there on public money.

A fitting prize for the most ingenious would be the refund of expenses to the treasury of the city or province taken in by it.

If Nasser's Bluff Works

The Green Light for Blackmail

By G.F.M.

(The author of this article, now a resident of Victoria, writes from a long and intimate acquaintance with the Middle East.)

Two decades remarkable for rumor as well as for the language used to express the current Middle East situation takes a turn and now attracts the public's attention.

Arising out of promiscuous post-Suez planning by Nasser, with the whole-hearted help and assistance of Russia, what we face, in essentials, can be stated as follows:

Until the advent of the airplane, radio and automobile, the Arab Peninsula was unusually insulated from the rest of the world and without these three means of communication was cut off largely from any of the main streams of world traffic. The metamorphosis set in after 1920. In 1932, in face of adamant British and Swiss views, geologically in the region, test by drilling "brought in" a commercial oil producer in Arabia. As late as October, 1928, a nice, much-lit but slightly pompous Dutch colleague sitting next to me at a London board meeting solemnly remarked, "No, I'm afraid there is no oil in Arabia."

L. was, in result, probably one of the coolest remarks (to say the least) in industrial history. Our Middle East reserves, in the following years, have now come to be estimated at 234 billion barrels in round figures. Total world consumption for industrial and military purposes is 33 billion barrels per day. Stated in industrial generalities, there is oil there in the Middle East for probably the next 200 years. The reserves are approximately seven times those of the U.S. and, as a similar comparison, seven times those of Russia.

Located where they are 860 miles from Russia and 7,000 to 10,000 miles from the greater world powers of the West, they create a problem. None the less for military and topographic reasons it is not too favorable for Russia to place, and particularly to maintain, an army down on the Persian Gulf. But at least, per se, by air, the Gulf and Arabia is quite practicable. So would setting up a defense be practicable. Moscow knows this. We are, currently, producing 9 1/2 million barrels of oil a day there. Of this approximately six million comes from Kuwait, Saudi Arabia and Iran (Persia).

Due in part to Arabia's and the Persian Gulf's remoteness from the rest of the world and in part to the efficient methods of large oil instrumentalities, this oil, immense as it is, has been and at the moment is a smooth operation. It is like a Rolls Royce, Bentley or Cadillac proceeding at say 70 miles an hour under complete control and on a good surface. All is well. But granted a hole in the surface or a fallen rock suddenly under the wheels, smoothness is succeeded by disaster. Nasser's objective is to produce disaster. If not in his initial effort, won by pet-

Contrary to widely circulated views, Eden was quite right haphazardly over Suez. He stood for sanctity of contract. What was wrong were two principal elements. The second of these was that due to institutional protocol the most competent sailor and the most competent soldier, irrespective of any seniority, were not put on the job—an act vital in importance. The first cardinal error and one that damned the effort was his miscalculation of what the late Mr. Foster Dulles' mental potentialities were capable of. The winning of a great effort for honorable regard for international responsibility had to include readiness to proceed with or without the late Mr. Dulles.

The general public heard a pleasant sigh of relief at what then was tightly but incorrectly termed the "settlement" of the Suez matter.

It was not a settlement but an "agreement," a "pause" as the radio people term it, "for station identification." What the late Mr. Dulles actually did over Suez was to ensure the continued passage of Soviet ocean-going submarines from Black Sea ports through the Bosphorus via the Suez Canal—Nasser controlled—into the Red Sea, Indian Ocean and finally oil-laden Persian Gulf where some 70 per cent of oil flows. With that oil reserve in Nasser-Moscow axis possession, i.e., actually taken from the West and held over our heads by them, a position—sooner or later—almost impossible to live with, would occur. To get round into the Persian Gulf and disrupt Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, etc., is his main objective and Russia welcomes it.

Already a U.S. admiral with the Sixth Fleet has very recently remarked on this Russian submarine fact of life. "We have, in short, another Hitler, around future international corners, because the U.S., and we would not stand together and be counted for observance of international agreement. Put trenchantly in the following from the pen of an American historian and former member of the faculty at Harvard, Samuel Eliot Morison in The Oxford History of the American People:

"It took Dulles a long time to realize that Gamal Abdul Nasser was not a 'reasonable' dictator like Tito but an Arab Mussolini—the same rolling eyes, calculated rages, lust for power, and contemptuous disregard for treaty obligations or international law..."

Both the French and British prime ministers held that they must and the U.S. must stand firm from breaking treaty obligations. The same historian with admirable frankness adds:

"Dulles, who detected Eden and feared that Britain was aiming to recover her prewar position in the Middle East, refused to commit himself (i.e., to Eisenhower, back from golf, pulled the rug from under the French and British—at a time when Nasser could have been brought to settlement that would honor existing treaty. Said like at a news conference, August 31, 1956:

"We are committed to a peaceful settlement of this dispute, nothing else," and continued the historian, "that came just at a moment when Robert Menzies of Australia, representing the London Conference (of powers) had persuaded Nasser to negotiate."

Blackmail is no different whether dated 1956 or 1967. We either stand or take the consequences and taking the general Russian domestic situation, trade posture and Mao's China at their back door, into account, they are certainly not going to war over the Gulf of Aqaba. But if Nasser's present bluff works, it will be a second time it has done so and certainly to Cairo and Moscow, it will provide a hearty laugh and also the satisfaction that they can try it successfully, again further round the peninsula.

Nasser is not by any means objecting to Canadians, as such. Their defeat in his eyes is, they are watch-dogs. Well, he finds watch-dogs inconvenient. They get around.

Wide Resentment

Over-Spilled and Over-Run

By IVOR BROWN from London

labor" when they mean shifting people about, rarely admitting frankly what they have the elementary sense to know, namely that people do not like being shifted and may actively hate it.

The inhabitants of the immensely swollen Greater London are being deposited in country towns. The planners, now the unseen, faceless rulers of our way of life, call the persons whose place of living they determine "over-spill."

That is a word as offensive as deployment is smooth. It suggests a nasty mess to be swept up. Who wants to be a bit of over-spill?

The over-spilled have advantages. They get council-owned houses easy to run, with air and space about them. They are living near their new work and do not have tiresome and costly journeys to and from it in the regular scramble of the rush hour. Yet often they resent this and try to get back to the queues and traffic-jams of the capital. No less often their country neighbors resent them and would gladly be rid of them.

On the day on which I had read about the protest against the Black and White Minstrel Show I saw news of a town in Suffolk where the local authority is building a wall to separate the privately built homes of the old inhabitants from the council houses of the newcomers. It is complained that the compulsory invaders from London are disorderly and untidy and that their children are undisciplined, destructive and thieving. That may or may not be true; what is a fact is the erection of a miniature imitation of the Berlin Wall which remains a disgrace to civilization in Eastern Europe.

The English have always made jokes about their partners in the United Kingdom. The Scots were derided as mean and miserly. Like the Jews, both these races have sensibly replied by inventing the most amusing stories against themselves. It will be a good day when the over-spilled Londoners can live at peace with the over-run countrymen. That tension can be relaxed when they can share a joke together. One remedy for rancour is laughter. (O.R.N. Copyright)

Today In History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The battle of Midway—turning point of the war in the Pacific—began 25 years ago today—in 1942. Seeking a naval showdown, Japan committed the bulk of her fleet to an invasion of Midway Island, westward from the Hawaiian group. American carrier-based planes attacked the Japanese southwest of Midway and sank four large carriers, Japanese planes sank the American carrier Yorktown. Appalled by their losses the Japanese called off the invasion of Midway. The destruction of so many aircraft carriers robbed the Japanese of their early initiative in the Pacific and restored naval parity.

East Europe's Handicap

Payment Barrier

By RAY McHUGH from Vienna

LITTLE Austria, perhaps the most experienced nation in trade with the European Communist bloc, takes a coldly practical view of the economies of its neighbors.

"Our trade with them really amounts to a barter system," said Dr. Fritz Bock, Austria's vice-chancellor and minister of trade, commerce and industry.

"We negotiate only on a bilateral basis. We do not extend long-term credits. The Communist countries simply have no hard currencies with which to buy and the Russians have refused every plea from the Eastern countries for a convertible ruble that might open the countries to enlarged trade with the West."

Bock, a banker and lawyer who once was imprisoned in the notorious Nazi concentration camp at Dachau, considers all the talk about East-West trade potential as exaggerated.

"The convertibility of currencies is the pivotal point," he said. "Until their money is worth something, their trade growth is automatically limited to their economic development."

This development is painfully slow in most Communist states, he said. He called Yugoslavia an exception and pointed to that country's increasing tourism revenue, its substantial food aid from the United States and its participation in the recent GATT trade talks in Geneva as key factors.

Austria sells about 16 per cent of her exports behind the Iron Curtain. In 1966 this amounted to $259 million. She imported $223 million worth of goods, mostly raw materials, from the Communist states.

This amounted to about 10 per cent of her total imports.

The figures are substantial, the highest of any West European country in percentage terms, but a far cry from prewar days when Austria did 50 per cent of her foreign trade with Eastern countries.

Some of these traditional markets have been re-established, Bock said, and Austria also benefits from some channels opened during the years of war reparations to Russia. It's a far cry, however, from old Hapsburg days when the Austro-Hungarian empire constituted a model common market.

In a sense a basis for broad trade between the United States and the satellite countries?

The Austrian vice-chancellor shook his head.

"I can't see it," he said. "You could purchase any amount of commodities you wanted to, but they can't buy from you because they lack the currency. Of course, if you want to start another giveaway program, they'll be happy to accept."

Would long-term U.S. credits encourage liberalization in the Communist countries?

"Communism, like everything else, is subject to change," said Bock. "But it would be a disastrous mistake to conclude that because some things in the system change that they are no longer Communism."

A few foreign trade transactions and a few cultural visits do not mean they are no longer Communism.

"As long as private property is non-existent, they are Communist states with all the inherent dangers of full police power. I worry about some of the statements of Western officials who seem to forget this."

Too much has been said, already, he added.

"All this talk of liberalization through trade has frightened some of the Communist political leaders. They are growing suspicious."

"If you want progress in this area, you should keep quiet."

Economically, he said, Yugoslavia is now the most independent of all Communist states. Romania and Poland are trying to establish some independence but they remain closely tied to the Soviet-dominated Comecon trade bloc. Hungary and Czechoslovakia, he said, are apparently retreating toward Moscow after some faint trade overtures to the West. He called Bulgaria a natural and traditional trade ally of the Soviets.

In his review of the Communist states, Bock omitted East Germany. When asked about it, he replied:

"What is East Germany?"

The answer reflected a general attitude among Austrians.

They don't want to talk about the East Berlin regime, now the most Stalinist, most oppressive of all the satellites.

"It's a reminder of the true nature of communism," said one official. "They have a trade mission here and its members add to the central register the names of all addicts who come to his notice. However, the purpose of the compulsory registration will be merely administrative and it will have no legal consequences to the addict."

In preparation for the new law, the ministry of health has issued a memorandum to British hospital boards asking them to make available outpatient services to addicts unwilling to undergo normal hospital treatment. Health Minister Kenneth Robinson has told the House of Commons that he would like all hospitals to adopt similar attitude to the addiction problem in order to avoid some acquiring reputations among addicts for being "easy" or "hard" on issuing narcotics.

between the two countries and officials here are frank to admit that they want Britain in the European Common Market to lessen growing German dominance.

The 1955 peace treaty that committed Austria to policy of neutrality may bar her from full Common Market membership, but despite Soviet threats and protests, Vienna is actively seeking a special arrangement with the Western European trade bloc.

"The Russians and the East-ern countries are soon going to have to face some hard economic facts," said one high Austrian official. "The Common Market is growing stronger. President Charles de Gaulle can't keep Britain out forever. Even Sweden will have to join."

"When this happens, the Communists are going to find themselves out in the cold. Their economies can't develop fast enough to satisfy growing consumer demands. So what do they do? Do they draw out their Marxist theories and become true trade partners, or do they revert to the old police state methods to curb their peoples' appetites?"

"It's not a pleasant choice for a Communist."

In Britain

New Law On Drugs

By THOMAS LAND from London

BRITISH doctors disregarding new regulations designed to control the flood of drug addiction are shortly to face penalties of up to 10 years' imprisonment and $3,000 in fine.

The same penalties are prescribed for drug peddlers. The new regulations, limiting the doctors' traditional freedom of prescription, are set out in the Labor administration's Dangerous Drugs Bill which is shortly to become an act of Parliament.

Its speedy passage into the statute book appears to be assured as government policy and public opinion coincide in this country over the need for urgent attention to drug addiction.

Official records of heroin addicts show an increase from 62 in 1959 to 670 last fall. And it is assumed in Whitehall that these numbers represent merely the visible fraction of the addiction iceberg.

The proposed legislation is a decisive first step towards ending Britain's permissive policy on drug addiction.

Unlike the laws of Canada and the United States, current legislation in this country permits any medical practitioner to supply regular doses of heroin, cocaine and other drugs to his patients.

It is assumed, however, that the lax attitude of some of the few doctors willing to tolerate the trouble of treating addicts has been responsible to a great extent for the release of excess quantities of narcotics. The government has therefore decided to allow only a small number of specially licensed doctors to provide addicts with their supplies.

The bill, however, does not propose to limit the right of all doctors to prescribe any medicine they choose in the course of treatment unrelated to addiction.

Heroin and cocaine have already been named by the proposed legislation. Additional drugs, it is expected, will be placed on the prohibited list at a later stage. Some suggest that the bill will be used to restrict the use of LSD.

Home Secretary Roy Jenkins has explained that the main purpose of the measure is the imposition of greater control on the use of narcotics. The introduction of the bill has coincided with the establishment of the ministry of health, of government-run treatment centres where addicts would still be able to obtain their requisite supplies.

These centres would operate in close co-operation with social workers and other authorities who might be able to help the patients. The centres would also attempt to bring the central registry of drug addicts within the realm of reality.

The new law will compel every medical practitioner to add to the central register the names of all addicts who come to his notice. However, the purpose of the compulsory registration will be merely administrative and it will have no legal consequences to the addict.

In preparation for the new law, the ministry of health has issued a memorandum to British hospital boards asking them to make available outpatient services to addicts unwilling to undergo normal hospital treatment. Health Minister Kenneth Robinson has told the House of Commons that he would like all hospitals to adopt similar attitude to the addiction problem in order to avoid some acquiring reputations among addicts for being "easy" or "hard" on issuing narcotics.

New Career Started With Old Typewriter

Colonist PROFILES

Back in 1950 Cecil George Clark shelved out $65 for a secondhand typewriter and unwittingly started a career — his second.

This is the same Cecil Clark whose crime stories in The Islander magazine of The Daily Colonist have gained such a wide following throughout British Columbia and many other parts of Canada.

Before the typewriter purchase, Mr. Clark had served with the B.C. Provincial police and when that body was incorporated with the RCMP, he was deputy commissioner and, I'm told, a good one.

Crime Authority

Born in North Berwick, Scotland, 68 years ago, Mr. Clark came to Victoria with his family in 1911 and joined the provincial force in 1916. Today, he is rated the outstanding authority on the history of crime in this province.

Asked why he decided to become a writer, Mr. Clark wasted few words.

"I just wanted to write and I went to work at it. And I've got a batch of rejection slips you could paper a room with to prove it wasn't easy."

First Break

His first break came from CBC producer Ross Maclean in Vancouver, who liked the authoritative style and eventually purchased 21 articles. Then came acceptances from the Vancouver Sun, the Vancouver Province and the Colonist. At one time he went on staff at the Sun as a feature writer and stuck it out for a year. However, since that time he's been a freelance operator and enjoys the freedom it gives.

Presently the Colonist alone has printed 700 articles of at least 2,500 words apiece and the well shows no signs of drying up. There is no secret formula in the Clark writing system either, unless hard work fails in the secret formula category.

Long Research

He estimates he has written about every major crime in B.C. and leaves little doubt as to his preference for the subject.

"I have a working knowledge of what's going on in crime and I feel truth is still stronger than fiction."

He spends countless hours at the provincial archives in the legislative buildings researching his articles. He refuses guesswork because too many readers have sharp eyes for mistakes.

"Only three people have written me later letters since I began writing and I've never been threatened with lawsuits because I've always made sure of my facts."

Out of Ordinary

A story, to be worthy of Mr. Clark's attention, has to be out of the ordinary. He refuses to take on a subject unless he feels it has some outstanding feature.

"It has to have courage on the part of the police or excellent investigative work, or even a cold case — something to take it out of the ordinary — because crime is a sordid thing to write about anyway."

Another cash expenditure that paid off in spades for Mr. Clark was the $250 he spent on a Rolleiflex camera. Today, most of the illustrations for Clark articles are done by the Clark camera, but here again, his tenacious researching capabilities came to the fore.

Read 35 Books

"After I bought the camera I went down to the public library and read about 35 books on photography and I never touched the camera until I learned enough about it. My search takes about $2 for library upkeep, so I figure I got a whole education in photography for two bucks."

An would be expected, Mr. Clark has found memories of his own police days and is a strong booster of police forces today. He feels today's force is much superior to those of 20 years ago.

New Techniques

"There are so many new techniques today. A man on the force in 1915 wouldn't be able to get a job on today's force unless as a junior. Within a few years practically all police executives will be university graduates."

We touched briefly on the public image of today's police force, and this led Mr. Clark to the FBI.

"The FBI has great public relations and I think all police forces should make the same attempt to bridge the gap between themselves and the public."

For recreation, Mr. Clark's attention was taken up by pistol shooting and he has a raft of medals to prove his efficiency in the sport. Team competition was his forte and he is a past president of the B.C. Rifle Association.

And, like Clark all over the world, his nickname is "Nobby" and, surprisingly enough, he knows the derivation of the name.

"In England the baron used to employ messengers or runners and they were outfitted with fine uniforms, including top hats. They were ribbed about being push or upper class, very 'Nobby'. I guess one of them must have been a Clark and the name stuck. It's been that way ever since."

I asked him whether he had any ambitions for his writing. "My ambition," he said, "without any false sense of modesty, is to be a writer. The more I write the more I think of my limitations and the less I think of my writing."

I guess I'll never be satisfied."

He's a big six-foot-one, 187 pounds, impressive man with little time for hobbies outside his writing and photography. He does manage the odd speaking engagement, but has out down on this in recent years because of the demands it made on his time.

And in keeping with his own writing philosophy, whenever Mr. Clark reads a book, you can bet it will be fact, not fiction.

Deficit Discouraging

Business Community Gloomy Over Budget

OTTAWA — The reaction of business groups to Finance Minister Sharp's anti-recession budget puzzles government officials.

They had expected the widespread cheer at the abolition of sales taxes on drugs and production machinery. Criticism of increased federal spending was also predictable.

But there was surprise here when businessmen did not agree with Mr. Sharp that the economy needs a slight stimulus to carry it through 1967 without slipping from an expansionary tide.

R. A. Engholm, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said the most discouraging aspect of the budget was its projected $740,000,000 deficit.

Main features of the budget were a legislative attack to bring down drug prices, abolition of the six-per-cent sales tax on production machinery and the avoidance of any changes in corporation and income taxes.

The government anticipates revenues of $3,960,000,000 and expenditures of $3,700,000,000 in the fiscal year ending next March 31.

Pharmaceutical manufacturers welcomed removal of the 12-per-cent sales tax on all drugs, due to take effect Sept. 1.

S. G. Turner, executive director of the Ontario Pharmacists Association, said consumers cannot expect a corresponding retail saving of 12 per cent because the tax is being removed at the manufacturers' level. But he promised the industry will "make every effort to pass along the maximum benefits."

Opposition politicians blasted the size of the spending program and took Mr. Sharp to task for not embarking on a more adventurous course in tax policy.

It is feared here that the minister's appeal for restraint on costs and prices has been lost on business and labor, the groups he singled out for a special admonishment in his speech.

The minister did win support of Toronto business and yet David Bryson. He said the market will take the budget calmly.

"A deficit budget without any sharp changes is the thing for this year," he said. Government of Canada cash balances have been bolstered to $382,000,000 by latest report to give Ottawa as free a hand as possible.

Senator Wallace McQuinn, a candidate for the Conservative leadership, has estimated that the 1967-68 federal borrowings will total $1,000,000,000.

In Vancouver, chain drug stores and the head of the B.C. Pharmaceutical Association sounded a caution that no dramatic decrease in prescription prices is likely as a result of the federal budget.

Sam Bass of London Drug Stores Ltd. said any saving to the customer will not be more than three per cent.

"The sales tax is paid on the manufacturing cost," he said, "and nobody knows what that cost is. They (manufacturers) will probably absorb it as overhead."

Glib B. Henderson, secretary of the pharmaceutical association, said in Victoria "we've been fighting this for years."

He said because the tax is paid at the manufacturing level it will amount only to about six to nine per cent at the retail level.

Asked if any price decreases would be passed on to consumers, Mr. Glib said "we can't tell any pharmacy what to do, we think they will pass on any price advantage they can."

Ralph T. Cunningham, president of Cunningham Drug Stores Ltd., said Mr. Sharp's announcement will mean a definite retail price decrease. He predicted customers will save about five or six per cent.

Meanwhile, industrialists and mining officials were elated at Mr. Sharp's decision to remove immediately a six per cent sales tax on production machinery.

Mervin M. Davis, a vice-president of Brenda Mines Ltd. which is putting a copper-molybdenum property near Peachland into production, estimates the company will save about $1,800,000.

After the Suez war, Dayan

Sentry at 12 Israelis' Hero Well Tested

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel's new defence minister picked up a rifle at the age of 12 to defend his communal farm against Bedouin marauders.

In the 40 years since, Moshe Dayan has fought the Arabs, the British and the Vichy French. In 1956, the general with the black eye patch commanded the Israeli forces who routed Egypt's army and captured the Sinai Peninsula in just six days.

Dayan at 52 remains a hero although he infuriated some of his countrymen with his 1965 book, Sinai Campaign Diary, which "told about the mistakes of Israeli tanks firing on other Israeli tanks accidentally, of some of our officers disobeying orders."

To the criticism, he replied: "It happened and that's what counts."

Dayan is a sabra, a native-born Israeli. The word is the Hebrew name for the prickly pear that sprouts from Israel's desert cactus. He was born to Russian parents at Deganya, the first kibbutz — communal farm — south of the Sea of Galilee in Palestine.

A sentry at 12, at 14 he was training in the Haganah, the Jewish militia before the state of Israel was proclaimed in 1948. At 18 he was in firefights with Arabs and at 22 he was second in command to Capt. Orde C. Wingate, the British officer who was organizing Jewish commandos in 1937.

Britain, ruling Palestine, under a League of Nations mandate, feared political repercussions from Wingate's work and recalled him. It declared Haganah illegal, captured Dayan in 1939 and sentenced him to five years in prison.

In the Second World War, fighting against the Vichy French and their Arab allies in Syria, Britain needed Palestinian scouts and released Dayan to help out. The black eye patch came after a battle in Lebanon, when a bullet jammed a telescope into his left eye.

In the Jews' fight in form Israel in 1948-49, then Lt. Col. Dayan's forces captured Lydda and Ramle and cleared the Neguv Desert. Dayan became army chief of staff in 1953.

Britain 'Needed' East of Suez

WASHINGTON (AP) — Australia's Prime Minister Holt said Friday the U.S. shares Australia's view that "a British military presence east of Suez is important for sustaining British influence in the world."

Holt issued a statement reflecting his talks Thursday with President Johnson and meetings with State Secretary Rusk and Defence Secretary McNamara. The statement came shortly before the arrival here of Britain's Prime Minister Wilson.

Holt also said that, as one of the maritime nations interested in world trade, Australia would join in signing a declaration with other nations to preserve the Gulf of Aqaba, figuring heavily in the current Israel-Arab crisis, as an international waterway.

Emergency Wards Kept Busy

Traffic accidents sent 119 people to the emergency wards of Victoria's two major hospitals last month.

Royal Jubilee had 63 traffic victims, while St. Joseph's had 48.

During the month, Royal Jubilee treated 2,800 persons at its emergency ward while St. Joseph's had 1,818. Jubilee had 232 more admissions than during the same month last year while St. Joseph's figure climbed 181.

Road Link Nearly Cleared

All except one of the 50 properties needed for widening of McKenzie Avenue have been acquired by Saanich, municipal commissioner Jack Lindsay said Friday.

He said the remaining property was a "major parcel" and negotiations are under way with the owners for the site.

Saanich is spending $136,000 acquiring land for the proposed four-lane thoroughfare between Patricia Bay Highway and the University of Victoria.

The municipality's share of the project, which will be shared roughly 50-50 with the provincial government, is $68,000. Work may start next year.

Nigerian Secessionists

Refugee Flood Clogs Highways

LAGOS (AP) — Thousands of Eastern Nigerians fleeing to the secessionist eastern part of the country jammed roads for miles Friday near the closed Niger river bridge about 275 miles west of Lagos.

The federal regime ordered the bridge closed Thursday night as streams of Easterners started leaving Lagos to return to their home region, renamed the Republic of Biafra after breaking away from the central government.

The government so far has not announced any military moves against Biafra, led by Lt.-Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu. The secessionists made up most of the population in Eastern Nigeria. The slaughter of Ibo in Northern Nigeria led to the friction that brought on the breakaway of Biafra.

Meanwhile, U.S. embassy officials Friday ordered a U.S. freighter to evacuate Americans from the secessionist region. An airlift was cancelled at the last moment.

Reliable sources said the Nigerian head of state, Maj.-Gen. Yakubu Gowon, informed Ambassador Elbert G. Matthews that the flight was cancelled a few hours before a four-engine DC-6 plane was due to leave Lagos for port Harcourt. The port is in the newly declared Republic of Biafra.

'Subsidies for Rich' Hit by Liberal

Newspaper Mail Rates Will Be Increased in Fall

OTTAWA (CP) — The government plans to increase postal rates for second-class mail, which includes newspapers, Postmaster-General Cote told the Commons Friday.

He denounced the move as Parliament examined and later passed the 1967-68 spending estimates of his department. Legislation is being drafted covering second-class mail and should be before Parliament by the fall.

Earlier, Liberal Ralph Cowan (seattlehead) criticized the $30,000,000 postage deficit on handling second-class mail last year.

Mr. Cowan demanded a score rate for publications, which would peg the mailing rate to distance. The farther the distance, the higher the rate.

SINGLE RATE
The U.S., he said, has had the zone system for 30 years. But in Canada, U.S. publications such as Time and Readers' Digest go from coast to coast for a single rate. It was ridiculous, unfair and a producer of post office deficits.

Moreover, Canadians subsidized through special low rates on farm publications two of the wealthiest families in Canada, the McClellans of Montreal and the Simpsons of Winnipeg.

The York-McLumber MP said Canadians should not have to subsidize these families who put out farm journals. There was no validity to the argument that the special rate was needed so farmers could get publications with useful information.

ADVANTAGE NEEDED?
Mr. Cowan also called for elimination of cheaper postal rates for newspapers with a circulation of less than 10,000. He singled out the smaller papers in the Robinson group.

"Does Lord Thomson need an advantage in printing these papers?" he asked.

Small weeklies are carried free within a certain radius of the publication centre. Mr. Cowan said the only apparent reason for this discriminatory practice was to influence business to go to "speaking well" of the local MP.

Mr. Cote generally agreed with the criticism. He said preferred rates might have been necessary a century ago, but conditions had changed.

'CLEAN UP' COMING
His aim was to "clean up" second-class mail rates and eliminate special rates for those that did not need it.

Alfred Hales (PC-Wallington) said the post office department would be revitalized if it was remade as a Crown corporation. Mr. Cote said the pros and cons of such a step are still under study.

Mr. Hales criticized out-of-date mail routes from the home-and-buggy days and said some small rural post offices are gradually closing. Two-thirds of the 300,000 accounts in the post office savings bank system were dormant and should be written off.

Many other MPs asked the government to improve pay rates for rural mail carriers who win jobs by submitting lowest bids.

Heath Macquarrie (PC-Quebec) said many rural carriers are getting far less than they deserve. The government must find a better way of paying them.

Mr. Macquarrie added he was shocked that no stamp commemorating the 100th birthday of Sir John A. Macdonald, Canada's first prime minister, was issued a few years ago. That should now be done this year. And there should also be a stamp remembering the Fathers of Confederation.

MORE PRIME MINISTERS
Former Canadian prime ministers should be placed on stamps more frequently. Other Canadian greats should join them.

Canada should also issue a stamp commemorating Robert Burns, the Scots poet. He was a "champion of human freedom." Even the Soviet Union has issued a Burns stamp in honor of two of them.

Reds Charge U.S.:

Soviet Ship Bombed

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union, in the first such accusation of the Vietnam war, charged that U.S. planes Friday bombed a Soviet merchant vessel in a North Vietnamese port.

An official protest note said U.S. bombers hit a diesel ship, the Turkistan, in Cam Pha, 50 miles north of Haiphong. The ship was damaged and two Soviet seamen were "badly wounded," the Russians said.

In Hong Kong, two leftist newspapers said Friday that Communist Chinese gunboats entered Hong Kong territorial waters Thursday and intercepted a Hong Kong government patrol boat for questioning. The government branded the report "a silly rumor."

Red Rocket In Vietnam

Russian-made ground-to-air missile is prepared for action against U.S. planes in North Vietnam. Caption of photo, made available in Canada Friday by Soviet press agency Novosti, says this missile crew, teamed up with nearby anti-aircraft unit to shoot down more than 20 U.S. planes.

North Vietnam Power Sliced

From UPI and Reuters — The defence department in Washington said Friday U.S. bombers destroyed two-thirds of North Vietnam's electric power facilities but made no claim it would have any effect on the Communist war effort.

North Vietnam's three big MIG bases were all damaged and in partial operation. U.S. planes began bombing the airfields at Hoa Lam, Kep and Kien An, in late April.

In Saigon, a government military spokesman said South Vietnamese government paratroopers here into a crack Viet Cong guerrilla battalion just south of the demilitarized zone which separates North and South Vietnam Friday and reported killing at least 150 guerrillas.

Backed by artillery, aircraft and heavy machine guns mounted on armored cars, the paratroopers hit back after running into heavy Viet Cong fire during an operation in the rolling sand dunes of Quang Tri Province.

Bombers had inflicted "significant damage" to the iron and steel works at Thai Nguyen, 33 miles north of Hanoi, and to the Haiphong cement works.

U.S. Slashes Survivors Of Merger

WASHINGTON (LAT)—The Pentagon surrendered Friday to the U.S. Congress, dropping its plans to merge the army's National Guard and reserve.

Instead, both groups will undergo a sweeping reorganization that will eliminate nearly 1,575 units. The result will be a 640,000-man force of eight divisions and 18 separate brigades, plus thousands of service and support elements.

Britain, Canada Agree UN Defusing Agent

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain and Prime Minister Pearson agreed Friday that every effort should be made to defuse the Middle East time bomb by means of United Nations action.

The British leader gave his views in a news conference before leaving by RAF jet for Washington and talks with President Johnson at the White House.

Prime Minister Pearson set out his position in the Commons under questioning from Conservative and New Democratic MPs. Mr. Wilson's centennial visit to Canada, cut to 17 hours by the press of world events, was spent mainly in private talks with Mr. Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin. Freedom of passage through the Gulf of Aqaba, closed to Israeli shipping by the United Arab Republic, is at the centre of the Middle East problem. Mr. Wilson said a declaration by maritime nations asserting that the gulf is an international waterway might be necessary. He hoped there would be time to work out a solution through the United Nations. He said the UN had received a hard blow and it was all the more important that it succeed now to restore its authority. He discounted the view that Arab leaders were taking advantage of the U.S. involvement in Vietnam to press their claims in the Middle East.

Just Fabulous

It's hard to believe that these wickedly sheer stockings could last so long. They're so fragile looking! But they're knit with a special lock stitch that really does prevent runs from starting. And that comfortable ribbed top lends off garter snag. (Clever, isn't it?) Naturally, they have Cameo's famous fit and face powder finish. What more could a girl ask for?

Safety Improved in Tragic Mine

NATAL, B.C. (CP) — The Balmer North coal mine where 15 men died in an explosion April 3 has been re-opened and 90 men are working in the area, Crow's Nest Industries Ltd. said Friday.

Mine manager J. E. Morris said 35 are mining and 55 are cleaning up and making improvements to prevent another disaster. He said the company has already made two major changes in its safety procedures and plans a third. The number of water sprayers to keep coal dust to a minimum have been increased and fine-ground limestone dust is sprayed in the tunnels to reduce the combustibility of the dust.

He said the company plans to install water barriers shortly that would cushion the shock of any explosion and absorb heat rapidly.

Greece Lifts Ban on Beatniks

ATHENS (AP)—The army-backed Greek regime, in an apparent move to attract tourists, has lifted its ban on beatniks and visitors with little money to spend.

Foreign tourists no longer will be required to carry a minimum sum of 100 for a 10-day stay in Greece.

The restriction was imposed shortly after the April 21 military takeover, together with the ban on beatniks and shabbily-dressed tourists.

Stan Delaplane Tips You Off

AMSTERDAM — It's flower time now in the Netherlands. The whole country blazes with color.

It's a pleasant land of good beaches, picture postcard villages and green fields with black-and-white cows. The sun is Dutch gold and the sky a Delft blue.

They've opened the new Schiphol Airport one of the best free port shopping places in Europe. (No duty, no local tax.) Best buys in this country are crystal, silver, magnificent copper, particularly in kettles. You should also look into buys on diamonds — quality and weight are controlled by the Government. Antiques, pewter and Delft china. Imported cameras, radios and perfumes are worth pricing.

"Would be interested in buying by mail from the free ports of Europe..."

You can get a free catalogue from Shannon Free Airport, Ireland. (That's all the mail address you need.) Schiphol in the Netherlands does not sell by mail. If you buy by mail, you must pay the Customs duty when it arrives — they send the bill with the package by the mailman. Even with the duty, a number of things are cheaper than you'd pay at home.

Not free port but very good for mail order gloves and perfumes. Friday, 10 Rue Aubert, Paris, France. Write for their catalogue. It's free.

***

"If we buy a car in England, how do we get it into France?"

Two ways and neither is expensive: Drive down to Lydd Airport in the south of England. They'll fly you and the car over in a Bristol air freighter. Takes about 10 minutes. British Railways will take it over by Channelboat — you too. You sleep on the same train and, by morning, you and the car are way down into France.

I fly it. Drive down from London in the afternoon and stay at The Mermaid in Ryde. That's a fascinating old cobbled town — one of the original Cinque Ports. The Mermaid is all leaded windows and polished copper. (Really should have a parrot crying, "Pieces-of-eight!" It's right out of "Treasure Island.")

"What is the dream on a cruise ship? We are flying back and don't want too much weight."

Everybody dresses in the evening. That means a cocktail dress for you. But a man can get by in a dark suit. I usually have a linen jacket along anyway. And I find the formal by wearing dark trousers and a bow tie with it.

There's no dressing up first night out and last night before getting into port. There's usually a costume party. The stewards have a store of such things. (Tip an extra dollar for his help.)

Daytime dress aboard ship is informal. Resort wear is the thing. You need a sweater. There's always a chill wind coming from somewhere. Coats for men in the dining room at lunch, but many ships don't require them for breakfast.

And when you leave your cabin, wedge all bottles — perfume and liquor — into drawers. Ships roll and — crash! The time you forget this is when you go aboard and impact. You go out on deck to wave goodbye. And you come back to a shambles.

In driving through Portugal, what hotels would you suggest and how to find them?

The best (and least expensive) and the government-owned one called "pousadas." You get a hat and reservations through the Portuguese Government Tourist Office in the Praa dos Restauradores in the centre of Lisbon.

They'll also sell you a book of ALL hotels in Portugal — about 100 cents. Give the price AND the rating. Pretty handy to carry around. For good prices look for "pousadas" or "pousadas." These are the ones with meals and wine included. Prices are controlled. Most of them run $8 to $10 a day for two with all meals. By Portuguese law, wine must be given free with the meal.

Quit Macao U.S. Urges

HONG KONG (UPI) — The American consulate in Hong Kong Wednesday said it has urged all U.S. citizens to evacuate the nearby Portuguese territory in Macao.

About 100 Americans live in the little riot-ravaged enclave next to Communist China.

Taximen Win Day at Expo

MONTREAL (CP) — Expo 67, now over the 9,000,000 mark in total attendance, heads into a week of anticipated summer weather after apparently overcoming a troublesome taxi tangle.

The tangle, featuring demonstrations by scores of cabs near the Expo site, followed a ban by the fair against all private cars and taxis which otherwise would enter the St. Helen's Island portion of the fairgrounds.

In protest against the ban, which took effect Thursday, the demonstrating cabbies paraded their vehicles near the western and eastern entrances to the site Friday.

The result was a slowdown of general traffic in the east and an irksome jam of vehicles on the new Bonaventure Autoroute, which leads to the fair's western entrance.

The jam, in the relatively short time it lasted, extended a good distance down the expressway from the entrance. Expo officials met with representatives of the cabbies. It was agreed that taxis again would be allowed, starting Friday, to enter Expo's amusement area, known as La Ronde, on St. Helen's Island.

The ban on private cars apparently remains in effect, however.

With the Expo temperature at 78, Friday attendance already had reached 101,444 by mid-afternoon compared with the 101,150 originally predicted for the entire day.

***
Total attendance since the fair's formal inauguration April 27 had reached 9,000,736.

Weighty Effort On Schedule

One of the first spring entries for June in The Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest is part of a centennial project for J. Clair Johnston, 2815 Admirals Road.

The 34-pounder caught at Beechy Head Thursday is the second biggest spring in the contest to date. It took Mr. Johnston an hour to land the fish caught on a Flatfish and spinner.

Mr. Johnston says his centennial project is to catch a fish the weight of each of his three small daughters. He has just caught the weight of middle daughter Sally, 3.

Fish weighing 52 pounds and 20 pounds for daughters Kelly, 6, and Nancy, 11 months, have yet to be caught.

Theft of Car Leads to Jail

Courtroom Parade

A man who used a worthless cheque to rent a car and then drove the vehicle to Regina was sentenced to six months Friday when he appeared before Magistrate William Ostler in central magistrates' court.

Derwood McFayden, no fixed address, pleaded guilty at an earlier hearing to a charge of theft over $50.

He rented a car from a Douglas Street car rental firm April 4 with a post-dated cheque which proved to be worthless. The car was located in Regina April 10 and McFayden was arrested in Edmonton May 18.

"Cab drivers must be protected from assaults of this type," Magistrate Ostler told 18-year-old Bernard Giovannini, who had pleaded guilty at an earlier hearing to a charge of robbery by assault.

The young soldier, a member of the Centennial Tattoo, was arrested last Saturday after taking $7 from a cab driver by telling him he was a karate expert.

Prosecutor John Macintyre told court that, while it was an extremely serious offence, robbery in the general sense had not occurred. He recommended leniency.

While no harm had come to the cabbie, Magistrate Ostler said, it must be borne in mind the driver had complied with the accused's demands.

"I cannot overemphasize the gravity of the offence," the magistrate said as he sentenced Giovannini to three months in jail.

Woman Remanded

Mrs. Marie Dulmage, 28, of 731 Admirals Road, pleaded guilty to a charge of theft under $50 and was remanded until June 9 for sentence.

Court was told the accused had attempted to take two bathing suits and a women's slip from a downtown department store without paying.

A store security officer said Mrs. Dulmage had about $35 in her possession when apprehended. The items had a total value of about $22, court was told.

Louis Genest, 42, of 521 Johnson, was sentenced to 30 days after being convicted of having care and control of an automobile while impaired.

Court was told the accused was found slumped over the wheel of his car about 10:30 p.m. June 1 in Beacon Hill Park with the keys in the car's ignition.

He had been convicted previously of a similar offence.

Chris N. Colvin, 19, of 1338 Transit Road, was fined $30 after being convicted of being a minor in possession of liquor.

Donald G. Rolph, 25, of 618 Linden, was fined $125 for careless driving and $25 for driving without a driver's license.

Refrigerator Deaths Island Unit's Target

Island members of the Refrigeration Service Engineers' Society are spearheading a campaign to reduce suffocation deaths of children playing in unused refrigerators.

The 28 member firms have offered to remove doors at no charge and without damage, so they may be replaced later if needed.

"If you don't want to remove the door, then at least turn a disused fridge to the wall so it can't be opened," branch secretary Fritz Hagedorn urged Friday.

Mr. Hagedorn, 4230 Spring Ridge Crescent, said 371 U.S. and Canadian children suffocated in refrigerators between 1946 and the end of February this year.

Most of them were playing hide-and-seek, or using the machines as make-believe jails.

The victims ranged in age from one year to 12, with the average age five. Boys outnumbered girls 24 to 1.

"In an air-tight fridge a child will suffocate in 15 to 30 minutes — faster if there is more than one using up the oxygen," said Mr. Hagedorn.

Oak Bay Woman Burned In Gas Oven Explosion

A woman is in fairly good condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital suffering second and third degree burns received in a gas explosion and flash fire in an Oak Bay bakery shortly after 6:30 a.m. Friday.

Joan Hope, operator of Hope's Bakery, 2030 Oak Bay Ave., was taken to hospital with burns to her arms and legs after she attempted to light the bakery's commercial gas oven.

The explosion and flash fire resulted in slight damage to the bakery other than broken glass in the front door and singed furniture.

Miss Hope's father William, 88, asleep in the living quarters at the rear of the shop, was also taken to hospital where he was treated for shock and later released.

Oak Bay fire chief W. T. Pearson said that, as far as can be determined, the oven's gas valve had not been fully shut off and allowed the gas to accumulate overnight in the working section of the bakery.

He said the oven was found by gas experts to be in good condition.

Big Gains Sliced In Late Selling

TORONTO (CP) — The exchange ran out of steam in the dying minutes as profit takers slashed earlier gains. As a result the market closed with a modest gain after it appeared it may be on the verge of a major breakout.

Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce rose 1 to 67. CPR added 1/2 at 69 1/2. I.T.L. Industries 1/2 at 34 1/2 and Distillers 1/2 at 32.

Falconbridge, Inco and Denison advanced 1 each to 84, 100 and 69 1/2 respectively in base metals and Rio Algom 1/2 to 52 1/2.

VANCOUVER — Dynasty rose .60 to 7.80 as the highlight of mining trading. Branda was also .25 cents ahead at 5.40 and Western Mines rallied .20 to 3.60. Highmont was up .25 but Pyramid lost ground falling .40 to 3.20.

A new listing, Norcan, closed at .51 and was responsible for about one-third of the day's trading.

MONTREAL (CP) — Banks and senior miners surged ahead to provide the market with its second straight day of substantial gains.

International Nickel led senior miners higher with a 3 1/2 point surge to 30 1/2. Falconbridge Nickel added 1 1/2 points at 83 1/2 and two uraniums — Denison and Rio Algom — 1/2 each at 69 1/2 and 32 1/2 respectively.

Canada Cement was up one point at 42, CPR 1/2 at 69 1/2, and Canada Iron to 19 1/2.

Shell ended 1/2 higher at 26 1/2 in the senior oils section.

Trans-Mountain Pipe Line climbed 1/2 to 18 1/2 while Bell Telephone slid to 50 1/2 in the mixed utility section.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Profit taking raked the big board and dropped the market slightly lower in a late selloff that came in a fairly slow pre-weekend session.

Chicago and North Western Railway, whose rise in recent sessions has been formidable, was hit hard by the profit takers and reeled up a loss of 7 points.

Many glamor tobagganers, IBM tumbled 7. Fairchild Camera 3 1/2. Polaroid lost 2 1/2. Tek 2 1/2 and Teledyne 1 1/2.

B.C. Bank Offering a Big One

By HARRY YOUNG
 Business Editor

In an exciting, if perhaps uncertain banking atmosphere, the Bank of British Columbia says it is ready to offer $15,000,000 worth of shares as its initial public offering.

Frank Trebell, president, said the amount had been fixed and the stock would sell in units of $100, representing four shares of $25.

He said the stock would be offered to anyone who applies from western Canada — B.C., Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba — but applications from eastern Canada would not be considered.

bank — is too big and it will be difficult to sustain an after-market.

They point to the fact that the shares of the Bank of Western Canada have slumped from the issue price of $15 to about $10.

The two banks, however, are hardly a parallel. In the case of the Winnipeg bank the outlook has been clouded by internal strife among its chief officers, and it does not have the support of a benevolent government to provide it with business as the Bank of B.C. undoubtedly will enjoy.

LITTLE BUDGET STIR

The terms of the budget had little effect on the stock market, although there was possibly relief in some quarters that new taxes were not being imposed.

In the bond market, the estimated deficit of $740,000,000 and a depressing effect on long-term Canada issues. Finance Minister Sharp expects to require up to $1,500,000,000 of new financing during the year.

Bonds generally were off an eighth to a quarter point, but showed signs of stiffening toward the close.

At Mr. Sharp's meeting part of his new debt financing through existing government bank balances — said to be heavy — and by using other fund accumulations from government agencies, the full impact of the new borrowing may not be thrown on the market.

Mr. Sharp has indicated a major effort will be made to increase sales of Canada Savings Bonds in this fall's campaign.

Dry Weather Boosting Fire Hazard

Forest fire losses in B.C. remain low but drying conditions are increasing the fire hazard, the B.C. Forest Service warned Friday in its weekly report.

A warm wind Friday afternoon fanned five "sleeper" fires into flames around Smithers, the forest service said.

There were no major fires burning on Vancouver Island. Total cost of fire fighting so far this year is $44,900, compared with $65,400 at the same time last year.

Socred Trio Begins Welfare-Work Look

A survey of B.C.'s welfare services has been started by two of B.C.'s women cabinet ministers and a Social Credit backbencher.

Trek Today

The younger section of the junior branch of the Victoria Natural History Society will meet at Douglas and Hillside at 10 a.m. today for an expedition to Spectacle Lake.

TRADE GOES ON

Belgian imported more than $550,000,000 worth of materials from South Africa in 1966.

Welfare Minister Campbell announced Friday.

Isabel Dawson and Grace McOrthy, members of the cabinet without portfolio, and Robert Wenman, M.L.A. for Delta constituency, will do the job, said Mr. Campbell.

Mrs. Dawson has already begun her survey of the needs of senior citizens with a visit to the Cariboo and Peace River areas, said Mr. Campbell.

Mrs. McCarthy will set up an office in Vancouver this month, and Mr. Wenman will locate his office in White Rock.

"These people will be reporting to me on their findings which will be taken into consideration in the further development of services to the people of this province," said Mr. Campbell.

He said the service will involve the cataloguing of services and resources, both government and private.

"The primary purpose of this survey is to attempt to streamline and improve these services and avoid any duplication which may now exist."

May Proves Dull One Despite Good Holiday

Despite the excellent Victoria Day weekend, May was a dull month here.

The monthly summer from the local weather office says May was cooler, wetter, duller and less windy than normal.

Bright sunshine totalled 211.1 hours, four below the usual; rainfall reached .93 inches, an increase of .03 inches from normal; and maximum temperatures were slightly under normal — 72.8 May 20 and 40 May 9.

How come the Cunningham delivery boy is a girl?

If you've ever called Cunninghams during an emergency, you wouldn't ask.

We've realized for a long time, that when somebody gets sick, mother is usually the first one there. It's a built-in sense of urgency that women seem to have.

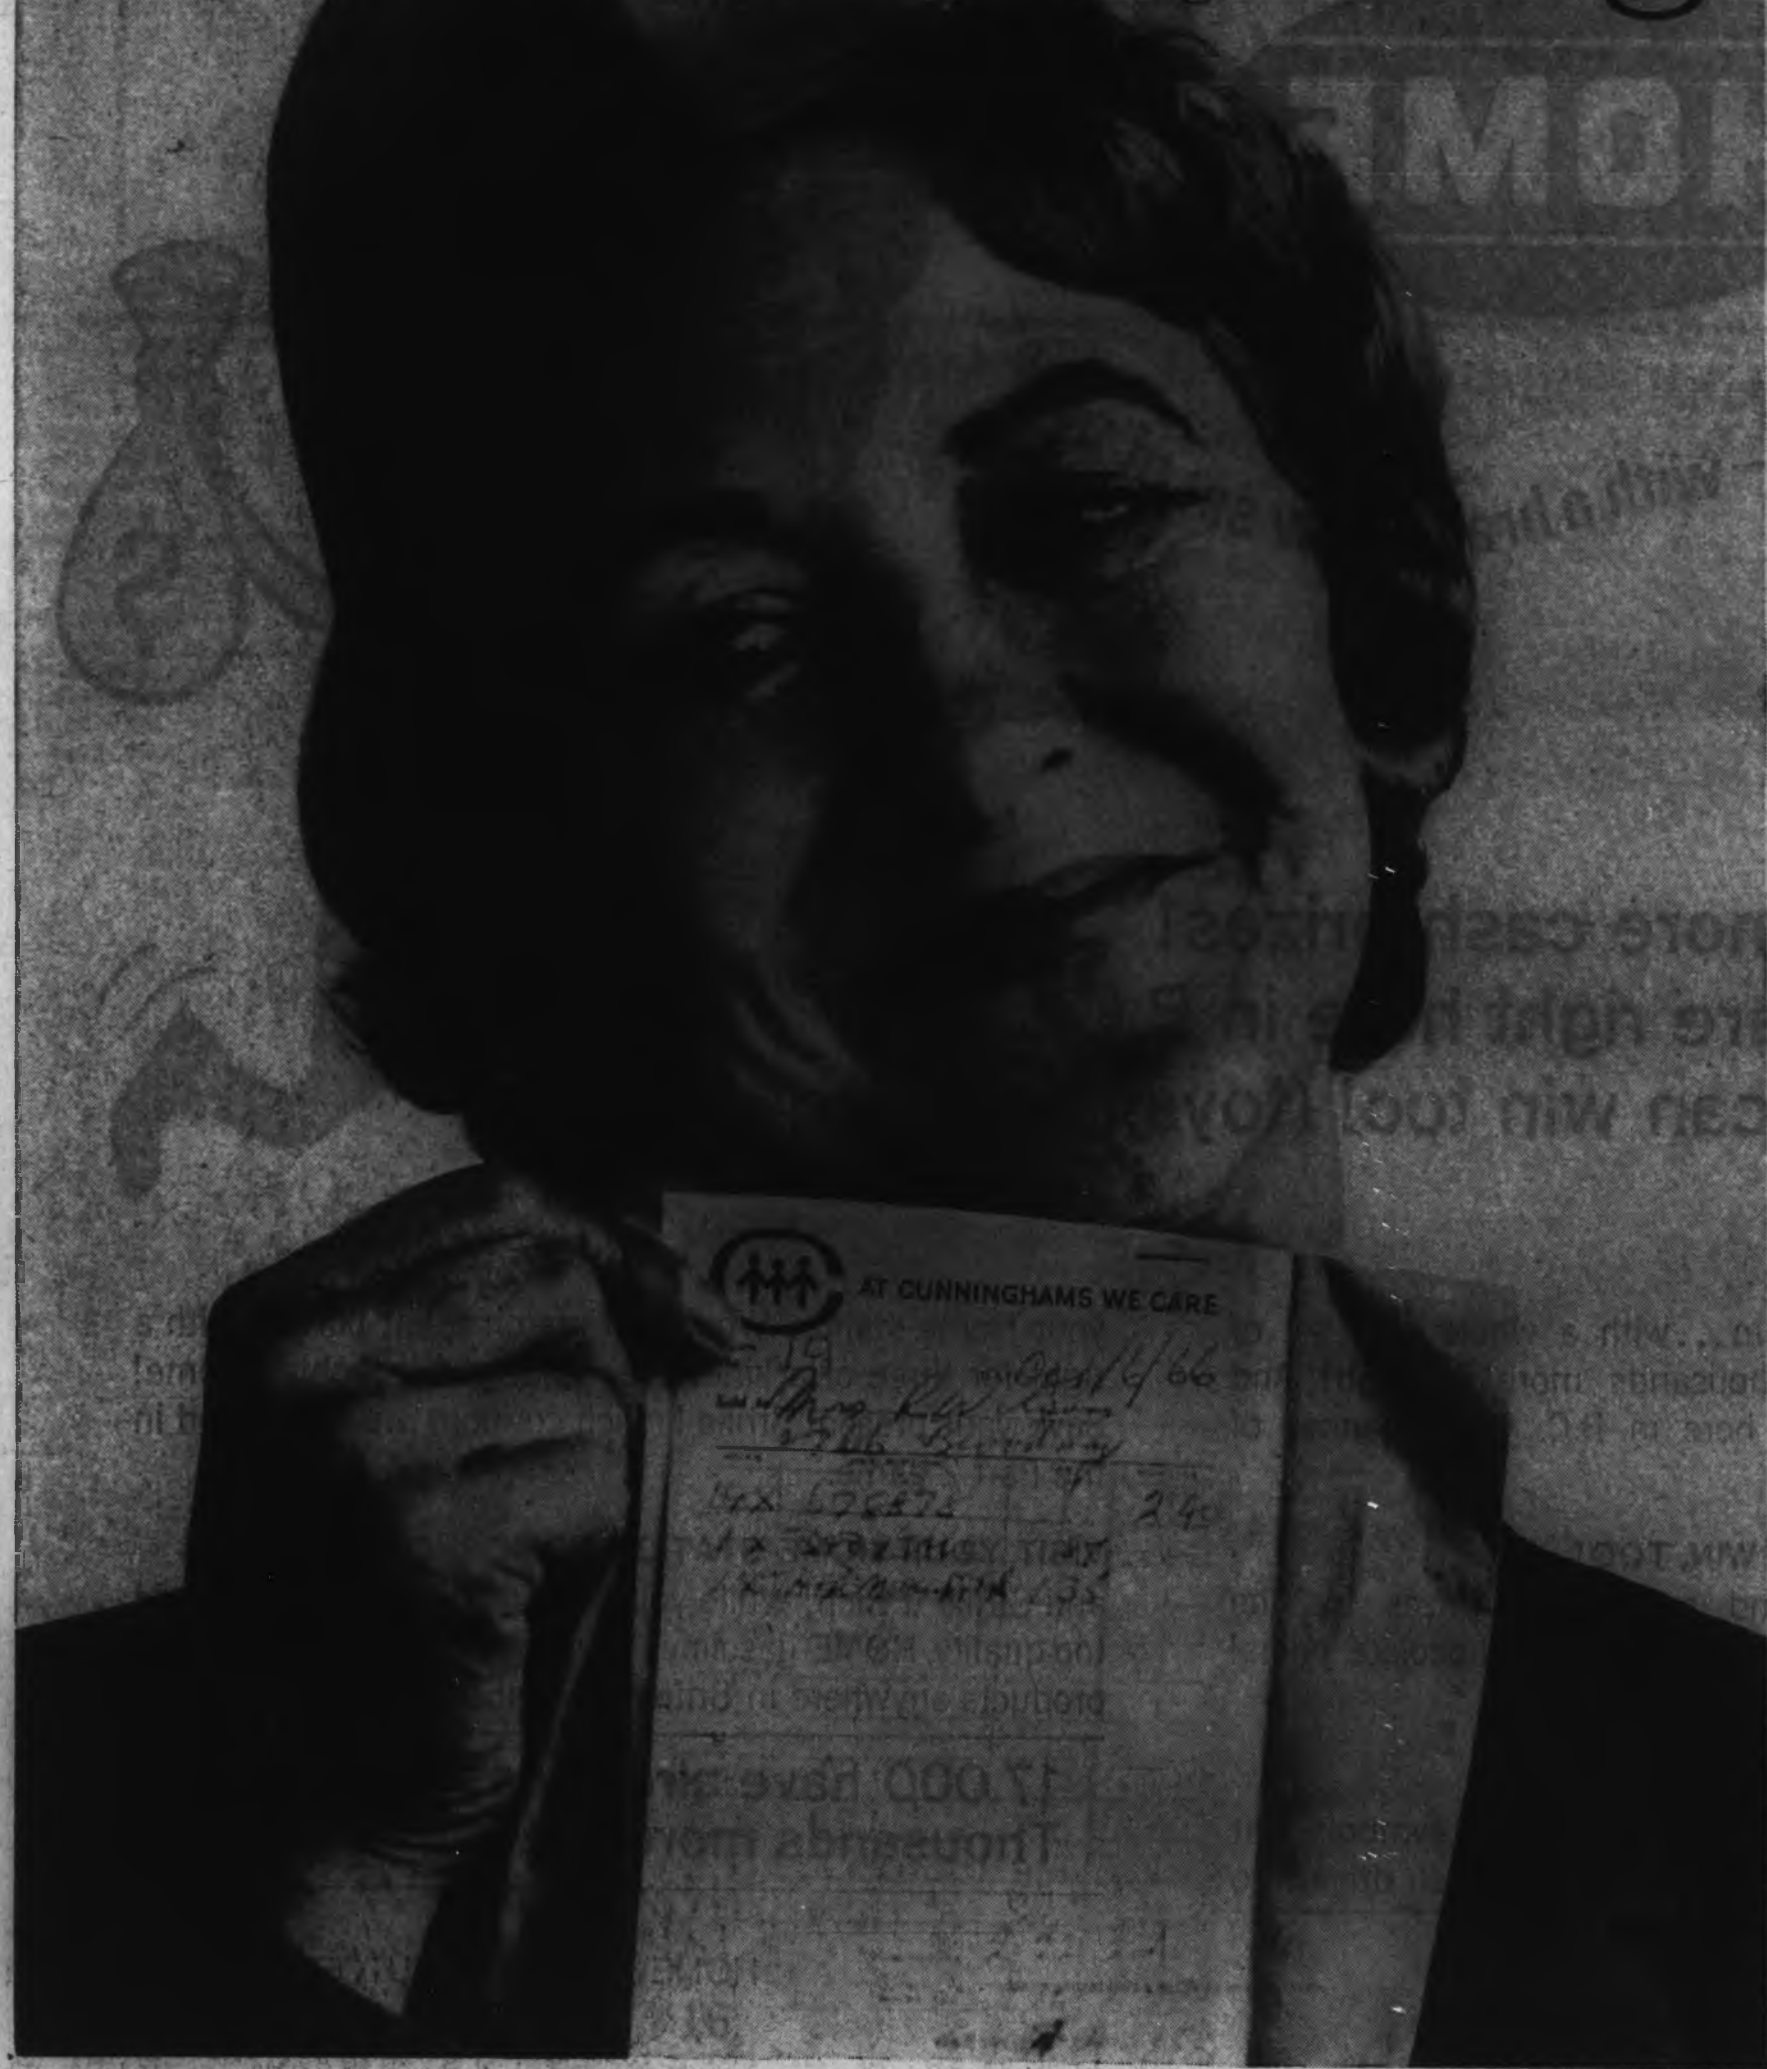

And our delivery boys have that kind of understanding in difficult moments because every one of them is a mother.

Remember last year, during the flu epidemic, when the snow was up to your knees? Every single one of our prescriptions got through. And most of our girls had to work 15 to 18 hours a day to do it.

That's loyalty even we didn't expect.

And that's why you'll find a pretty face behind the wheel of every Cunningham car.

At Cunninghams we care.

Gardening Today Is Pleasure, Not Chore

New Equipment and Supplies Make Light Work of Outside Tasks

Today's homeowner can really enjoy his garden, because so many manufacturers and suppliers have worked hard to help lighten his tasks. Power mowers make lawn care easy—new insecticides are simple to apply, effective for a long time—selective weedkillers have almost ended the back-breaking job of hand weeding. Fertilizer used to be smelly and hard to work into the soil—now it comes pelletized and is evenly distributed with no more effort than walking across the area. Besides less work, you can look forward to more satisfying results from today's improved gardening methods—and any homeowner will tell you that there are few greater pleasures than your own well-kept garden.

High Quality is Apparent Throughout This Fine Home

One look at the outside of this home, on its well-treed lot, and you recognize quality. And when you step inside—carpeted floors throughout, built-in appliances (including dishwasher), sandstone fireplace, medallion wiring and many other features confirm it. There's 1,800 sq. ft. of living under the handsome hand-split shake roof, 4 bedrooms and den to give all the space you'll need for comfort, three bathrooms, one with shower. Attached reinforced concrete garage for two cars. Have a home like this one built for you, and step up to living the way you've always wanted to!

Main Floor Family Room Opens On To Spacious Kitchen Area

Here's a home designed with a family in mind—the large family room has a convenient breakfast counter opening on to the kitchen, so Mother can keep an eye on the children while she gets on with her work. Over 1,600 sq. ft. on the main floor, and a full basement with a large rumpus room complete with fireplace, give lots of room for expansion. Laundry room is on the main floor to avoid lugging wash up and down stairs—the three bedrooms are larger than usual, and there are two full bathrooms. Low-sitch roof is 20-year tar and gravel, and the home is wired to Bronze Medal standards.

A. E. Newton Ltd., 477-3254

Here Is a Home Designed For Real Family Living

There's a great deal to be said for a home like this, where all the three bedrooms are on the upper level, keeping living and sleeping areas entirely separate. You'll also delight in the separate dining room, and the added touch of luxury represented by having the toilet in a room on its own, instead of in with the vanity and bath. Just think how much more convenient this will be! You'll find bright ideas for better living throughout this house—twenty years of experience in designing and building fine homes comes to a peak here—truly a home that represents the best in today's trends.

Own Your Home! Always a Valuable Asset

12-Year Figures Show Almost 30% Gain In Value of Single-Family Dwelling

Nobody denies the comfort and convenience of living in your own home—but some people feel they can't afford it. Figures from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that money invested in a home grows in value over the years (some 30% since 1955) so that you really get a cash bonus in addition to all the other advantages! Real property has shown appreciation in value throughout recorded history, and with today's growing population it seems more than probable that home values will rise even faster in the future. There will never be a better time to buy a new home than now—enjoy it while it helps increase your savings at a rapid rate!

Dad! Do You Dream of a Den? Then This is the Home for You

You won't have to build your own den after you move into this home—it is ready, finished and waiting for you. A room where you can relax or work as the mood takes you. If you prefer, this can be the fourth bedroom—with two full bathrooms, this home easily accommodates a larger family. Sliding door gives access to private patio. Location of the home is also excellent for family and country living. A beautiful view of paved road, curb, and street lighting.

Big Growth Forecast For Victoria Area

While some parts of Canada are actually losing population, and therefore have less need for housing, the Victoria area is showing a rapid growth pattern expected to speed up in the near future. City of Victoria Planning Board figures indicate a projected population increase of 10% in the next 10 years. Long before the complete term of your mortgage, you can expect a great increase in the value of your home.

A New Home Is Your Best Investment Now

New Bank Act Makes Home Financing Easier

Additional $200,000,000 Injection Predicted During Coming Year

H. W. Hignett, president of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, expects that the chartered banks in Canada will supply at least $200,000,000 for home loans this year. The new Bank Act, which went into force May 1st, allows the banks to re-enter the mortgage finance field, and a quick glance at recent newspaper advertising by banks shows that they aim to be extremely active in many areas, mortgages included. It is expected that both N.H.A. and conventional mortgages will be handled, and the new competition facing the life insurance and trust companies should invigorate the whole financial structure. 14,562 N.H.A. loans for housing units were approved in the first three months of 1967—more than for the entire 12 months of 1966.

Rumpus Room and Bar In Beautifully Finished Basement

Everything about this home tells you that it's de luxe. The huge rumpus room has rock fireplace and carpeted bar area, living room has corner fireplace of sandstone, wall-to-wall carpeting which extends to hall, dining room and stairs. In all, the basement has 1,000 sq. ft. of space. (Both upstairs bedrooms have fitted-in wardrobes), make this a true family home. The kitchen is any woman's delight, with Crestwood cabinetry, built-in dishwasher, range (with hood), garbage disposer and even refrigerator. Large sundeck opens off living room.

Spacious Basement Layout Here Allows for Complete Extra Suite

You'll enjoy plenty of space in this home as it is—and the full basement has been carefully planned for a complete extra suite. The main bedroom has two vanities, a built-in wardrobe and rumpus room. Main bathroom has two vanities to solve the morning rush problem. Details for easier living include utility room off the kitchen, and covered front walk; a boon in our coastal climate; while luxury touches include a slanted fireplace with fancy mantel, walnut kitchen cabinets with design on doors, large sundeck, private access to bathroom from living room, and a covered deck over the front porch.

4171 Longview Drive

Enjoy Spectacular View of Cordova Bay Here

The outstanding view of beautiful Cordova Bay is a big bonus on top of the comfortable, trouble-free living you'll enjoy in this handsome home. Modern Tudor design is set off by professional landscaping outside—inside, almost 1,700 square feet of living space, including three bedrooms and three bathrooms—is loaded with extras for your convenience. Large living room has parallel built-in bookcases at sides of fireplace, giving a feeling of spaciousness. Dining room has built-in china cabinet and a sunroom for full use of space, double stainless steel sink and convenient eating area. Basement contains large finished hall and rumpus room with glass sliding door opening out on to patio and that spectacular view!

Dramatic Fireplace Design Highlights Living Room

There's a conversation piece built right into the living room of this handsome, four-bedroom home. The dramatic fireplace is the focal point of the room. The living room has Colonial-style cabinets and range hood with fan, master bathroom (there are two) has colored fixtures. Fourteen hundred feet of luxury living, plus rumpus room in basement, ready for you to finish just the way you want it. Details you'll appreciate include concrete driveway, ample closet area and spacious sundeck where you can make the most of summer days.

Dave Stubbs Construction Ltd., 479-6949

Victoria Well-Supplied With Lending Agencies

There are no fewer than 29 companies offering mortgage loans in this area—and now every branch of the 8 chartered banks is also in the field. The mortgage market is so active that the average buyer can get confused by the number of organizations offering mortgages. The best and simplest way to get a mortgage is to contact a mortgage broker or his agent for counsel. All Victoria Home Builders Association members are experienced in mortgage financing and can be relied upon to give competent and reliable advice.

Important Points For Home Buyers

Home builders want—and should get—the best buy for the money. The first consideration in finding the right home for you is the location. Your pleasure in your satisfaction will be influenced by your satisfaction with the surroundings. Most families want easy access to schools, shopping, recreation and public transportation. Other factors of importance in judging a neighborhood are the availability of parking for health and shopping, and the availability of utilities. Families with growing children will want an area where there are other children, playgrounds, and a safe environment.

It's All Here!

On every account, you'll find that homes represented in this Parade are in prime locations. There are few places left in the world where you can find such surroundings as we find in the Gordon Head-Cordova Bay area.

The Parade of Homes is a project of the Victoria Home Builders Association. Members of the Association plan their sites and homes to provide a high standard of living, good community planning, and keep alert to improvements in building materials and methods. When you buy a home, you're sure of top value in family living!

Garden Notes

By M. V. CHESTNUT

In this Centennial series on bedding plants, most of the plants I have mentioned and recommended have been annuals, although I did get in a plug for the Coleus, ordinarily grown as a foliage houseplant. Another so-called houseplant which can double for duty in the beds and planters out front is the old-fashioned scarlet geranium, for this one, too, fulfills our requirements of blooming early and continuing in bloom all summer long.

These plants are especially good for hot, dry, unshaded sites on the south or southwest side of the house. Geraniums are real heat-lovers and revel in conditions that would sizzle the juices out of pansies or stocks.

The one factor working against the use of geraniums as bedding plants is their high first cost, for these are no easy-to-grow annuals raised in a few short months from seed; they occupy expensive greenhouse space for a very long time before they are at point-of-bloom and ready to be sold. But while the first cost may be high — usually $4.25 to $5.00 per dozen — you can get a lot of mileage out of geraniums. A smart gardener can keep the plants alive in the basement over the winter to use again, or you can take and root slips to carry over the winter for planting out the following spring.

I prefer a rather sandy loam soil for geraniums, and while I enrich my soil with old rotted manure for almost everything else in that garden, I prefer not to use it in a geranium site. Generous feeding tends to make the plants fat and lush, with growth almost as sappy and mush as a rhubarb leaf, and you wind up with giant plants, all leaves and few flowers. I am a bit chary about using any of the "forcing" kinds of chemical fertilizer on these plants, too, for I lost an expensive batch of plants one year with the leaves turning purple and dying. I suspect the cause was some impurity in the dry chemical fertilizer. A little Alaska Fish, Alginate Liquid Seaweed or Liquid Blue Whale in their water is all they need to keep them happy.

In preparing the site, I break down the soil moderately with the rake after digging, but not too much, for geraniums do better in slightly lumpy soil than in powdery, fine stuff. Following the digging and raking, I tread the bed VERY firmly — as firmly as for Brussels sprouts — for really firm soil tends to produce stocky, shortjointed plants with well-ripened stems and a good head of bloom from every joint.

There are a couple of tricks of the trade in planting bedding geraniums which make for a much more pleasing display of bloom. First, set the plants in the ground on the slant, with the main stem sloping toward the back of the bed at an angle of about 30 degrees, and make the soil VERY firm around the roots. Admittedly, this looks completely cockeyed, but you must remember that you are striving for an overall effect rather than the shapeliness of the individual plants.

After this on-the-slant planting, nip the growing tip off each plant. This pinching induces the plant to branch out, with a branch arising from every leaf joint. And because the main stem is sloping, each of these branches or side shoots grows straight up, vertically, and each should carry a good head of bloom. In this way, you get far more blooms per plant than if the plants had been set in upright.

In addition to the ordinary bedding kinds, some dealers are offering the Ivy-leaf geraniums, a vine-like petiole plant very effective in hanging baskets and for dangling over the edges of planters and window boxes.

ARTHUR HOPPE Gives Lowdown on High Seas

International Law Hazy

President Johnson has called Nasser's blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba "illegal," which means he may send an army or two over there to uphold the law. If he can find one that isn't busy.

This, of course, has raised grave questions on the public mind, such as, "So what's the legal?" For the definitive answer to this we have with us today The Right Honorable Homer T. Pettibone, the noted U.S. State Department expert on international legalisms.

Q—Could you tell us, Mr. Pettibone, why an Egyptian blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba is illegal?

A—Certainly. It clearly violates the inalienable right of freedom of the high seas, a cornerstone of international law to which all civilized nations subscribe. After all, unless we uphold international law we shall never make a real world.

Q—Is the Gulf of Aqaba a high sea?

A—We have checked that very carefully and our studies show that it is precisely as high as any universally recognized high sea anywhere on the globe. Now, for example, if Nasser had decided to blockade the Dead Sea or the Salton Sea in California, both of which are below sea level, we might well be on shaky ground here.

Q—But the Gulf of Aqaba isn't very wide.

A—Yes, that's true. On a nice day you can see across it. We are perfectly willing to concede that it is a narrow high sea. But it is a long one. Indeed, he have undoctored photographs, taken down its length, which prove conclusively that it looks like any high sea anywhere. The blockade is thus clearly illegal and we must do our utmost to uphold international morality.

Q—And how does this blockade differ from the U.S. blockade of Russian ships in the Caribbean during the Cuban missile crisis?

A—Oh, that was an entirely different situation. It is always difficult for the layman to understand the technicalities of international law.

Q—But isn't the Caribbean a high sea?

A—Well, it's difficult to answer that question flatly. For instance, there is the time factor. When the tide is out in the Caribbean it is definitely not as high as a high sea when the tide is in. Then there is what we call the geographical variant.

Q—The geographical variant?

A—Yes. Actually, you see, the world is divided into two types of high seas. There is the high sea within 500 miles of shorelines and there is the other kind. We refer to the former as "our high seas" and the latter as "international waters." Naturally international law applies only to international waters.

Q—Naturally. And yet there may be some who contend that after the U.S. blockade of Cuba on its high seas it has little right to moralize against Nasser blocking Israel on what he considers his high seas.

A—Well this shows total ignorance of the one basic tenet of international law by which the action of any nation must be judged. And even though you may reject the time factor and the geographical variant, the morality of Nasser's blockade must stand judgment on this one basic tenet to which all civilized nations unanimously adhere.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Mia May Be Leashed

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Frank Sinatra may have to stamp his foot down. His young wife, Mia Farrow, was all poised to sign for Rose-Marie's Baby, the Ramona Falamaki-William Castle production at Paramount when George Cukor requested her for his Nine Tiger Man for 20th Century-Fox, which owns her contract. Rose-Marie's Baby will be made in New York. Nine Tiger Man starts in London, then travels to India with Robert Shaw co-starred. Frank, who hated it when Mia was in London for Dandy in Aspley, might insist on keeping his bride in Hollywood, where the Sinatras have a big beautiful home, or in New York, where they have a big beautiful penthouse.

George Hamilton has decided that home — his 39-room castle in Beverly Hills — is best and is accepting only pictures that will be made in these environs. But first George will have six weeks in St. Tropez basking out The Image and the Idol, in which he will star and produce for Metro—in Hollywood, no mention of Lynda Bird visiting him in Bardot's bedchamber.

Twentieth Century Fox executives have abandoned the idea of a big charity premiere in Chicago for its St. Valentine's Day Massacre movie. Couldn't get any organization to front the affair which, as you know, concerns that very late late citizen of the Windy City, Al Capone.

Back permitting, Kim Novak begins The Legend of Lylah Chase July 5 in Hollywood. Her loverboy, just signed by director Robert Aldrich, will be Peter Onorati, who is not only an excellent actor, but handsome and unmarried. How can they avoid a romance? In the past Kim has been happiest when her leading man or the director falls in love with her — a la Richard Johnson in Moll Flanders and Richard Quine in The Notorious Landlady.

Walter Shenson is getting a brand new name for Jerry Lewis in Don't Raise the Bridge, Lower the River. She's Jacqueline Pearce. If the girl can survive a comedy and if she can keep up with the cinematic antics of Lewis, her career will be a breeze.

The burglars who robbed the Belgravia home of heiress-actress Suzanne Leigh took off with her two wigs. Among the other loot, were furs, jewels, and a bracelet given her by Elvis Presley at the close of their Paradise, Hawaiian Style picture. It seems to me there are more robberies in London than in New York and Bel Air combined, but I could be wrong.

"I'm in a Berlioz," said Milton Berle who recently completed his segment in The Big Valley with Barbara Stanwyck. Of all things, Uncle Milton plays a sheepman who tangles with sheep-stealing cattlemen. Next he shares honors with wife Ruth on what will kick off the fall season of The Lucille Ball Show. "It will mark the dramatic debut of Mrs. Berle — and if she wants to keep the title, she'll be dramatic during my laugh lines," said Milton. After that, I Dream of Jeannie, June 12. Also a Danny Thomas anthology, then Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas.

Remember When?

Asks HAL BOYLE

You've got a pretty good memory if you can look back and remember when:

A dude was a fellow who wore grey spats with pearl buttons.

In a small town nothing really memorable usually happened except on Saturday nights. During the week you talked about what you had done last Saturday night and what you looked forward to doing next Saturday night.

Only spendthrifts or very wealthy men bought suits that had only one pair of pants.

Nobody thought cigarettes caused cancer, but it was agreed by many that if you smoked them regularly you were pretty likely to come down with tuberculosis, which then was just as feared.

You didn't have to be a connoisseur to get in and out of automobiles. They had running boards to step on.

If you wanted to make a big splurge you bought your best girl a 10-cent ice cream soda — just to let her know that when she went out with a real sport like you nothing was too good for her.

A small boy couldn't make up his mind whether to grow up and be the engineer of a train or the conductor who took up the tickets, and, with should ever be a Second World War, the weapon most to be feared would be poison gas.

Those were the days! Remember?

IT'S NOT ENOUGH TO BE DIFFERENT, SHELDON... YOU'VE GOT TO EARN A LIVING, TOO.

LOOK... IF WE CAN'T GET THE JOB DONE, WHO CAN?

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

It's next Tuesday that the six new National Hockey League clubs actually become a reality. That's the day they go shopping for their playing talent in the bargain basement set up by the six old clubs. But when the newcomers have completed the shopping they are allowed they will still be major league in name only. Almost all of the merchandise being offered is either shop-worn or factory rejects. When they get the full details in their Wednesday morning newspaper, hockey fans will know what they have suspected ever since the entrenched NHL clubs announced their stocking plan—that never before in hockey has so much been paid for so little.

No more than 15 or 20 proves NHL performers will be available in the expansion draft. But together on one club they would almost certainly finish last in the established NHL division. Dividing them among six new clubs leaves little around to build a major league club. On the other hand, the six old clubs won't be appreciably weaker and could even be better. The two goaltenders and 18 other players they will give up, at $100,000 per player, won't skim off much of their cream. What may surprise hockey fans is just how little their lineup will be changed next season.

Take Montreal Canadiens, the club that will have to leave the best NHL talent on the unprotected list. If the Canadiens protect defencemen J. C. Tremblay, Jacques Laperriere, Terry Harper and Ted Harris and forwards Henri Richard, Jean Beliveau, Ralph Backstrom, John Ferguson, Bobby Rousseau, Yvan Cournoyer and Gilles Tremblay, it means that Claude Provost, Claude Larose, Leon Rochefort, Dave Bakon, Jean-Guy Talbot and Dick Duff will be among those on the Montreal draft list.

That's a talent by no means bad, but Canadiens will be able to reclaim at least two of the seven regulars under the rule which permits a club to place another player on the protected list after each of the first two draft choices made by expansion clubs. Canadiens will be hurt the most, but add the two reclaimed players to the 11 protected plus goalkeepers Gump Worsley and Rogatien Vachon, and they won't exactly be suffering for want of talent. They can probably fill the gaps with promising young talent from their farm system. To make certain this was possible, established clubs managed to protect quite a number of first-year pros and 10, I believe, graduating juniors.

Just how well the established clubs protected themselves for the expansion draft can perhaps be best shown by how it will affect Toronto Maple Leafs, the Stanley Cup champions.

After a question and answer session with manager-coach Punch Imlach during his recent Victoria visit, it appeared established that the Leafs will protect goalkeeper Johnny Bower, defencemen Tim Horton, Marcel Pronovost, Larry Hillman and Bob Baum; forwards Dave Keon, Pete Stemkowski, Bob Fulford, Jim Pappin, Frank Mahovlich, Brian Conacher and Ron Ellis.

"Most clubs," Imlach said, "will protect four defencemen and seven forwards."

If the above list is correct, the Leafs will have two pretty good centres in Mike Walton and Murray Oliver on their draft list along with such regulars as defenceman Al Stanley and winger George Armstrong and Larry Jeffrey. But only the presence of Armstrong seemed to disturb Imlach who has a tremendous respect for the veteran.

"That's the unfair part of the draft," he complained. "There's no way I can protect him and I could lose my captain."

Armstrong Friday night announced his retirement, presumably because the Leafs were not going to protect him. Imlach said he would not accept the resignation. Armstrong remains eligible for the draft, but if he refuses to re-sign, he will not be used by the Leafs in any capacity, including an executive post. The same applies to Bernie Gosselin at New York.

But Imlach knows he won't lose both Walton and Oliver because he can reclaim one of them as soon as the other is drafted. Or if he has a preference for one of them he can put Baum on the draft list and reclaim either Baum or the unprotected centre depending on which one is drafted first.

After that, the Leafs will probably lose Jeffrey and some borderline farm-club talent but expansion clubs will almost certainly shy away from taking the rather-ancient Stanley and the chances are that the Leafs will have Armstrong back before it's over. With two of their prime youngsters, defenceman Jim McKenney and forward Wayne Carleton, protected because last season was their first as pros, the Leafs shouldn't lose much that counts outside of Jeffrey and Eddie Shack, who was traded away for Oliver and didn't count much last season.

Last season the Leafs lineup read most of the time as Bower, Sawchuk, Horton, Pronovost, Hillman, Stanley, Baum, Stemkowski, Fulford, Pappin, Keon, Armstrong, Kelly, Walton, Conacher, Jeffrey, Mahovlich, Ellis and Shack. Next season it is likely to include Bower, Horton, Pronovost, Hillman, Baum, Stanley, Stemkowski, Fulford, Pappin, Keon, Armstrong, Carleton, and there is a chance that it will also include Sawchuk.

Kelly is missing because he retired and for the other changes the Leafs put another $2,000,000 in their coffers. With McKenney and Carleton, they may even be a better club. The established NHL clubs didn't take in six new clubs. They just took them.

Luckies moved into a first-place tie with Carleton in Men's Senior Open Softball League action at Central Park Friday by dumping Red Lion Inn, 5-1.

For Lions, it was the 12th straight loss without a victory leaving them nine games back of the leaders and six behind Colquhoun Inn and Molsons who are tied for third place.

LANGSETT VILLAIN
Glenn Langsett was the villain, coming on to stop a rally in the second inning and turning in a one-hit relief performance, striking out six while allowing one walk.

Leading pitcher Geoff Hett, recently transferred from Colquhoun Inn, drove home Red Lion Inn's only run with a triple.

HITTING MANAGER
Manager Ed Spina provided most of the punch for the winners, driving in three runs on two singles.

Regular league action is suspended Sunday, but Nantamoo O'Keefe's which have won the May 24 tournament for the past two years meet Carleton in an exhibition doubleheader at 1:30 and 4:30 p.m.

Luckies: Carleton Place 5, Red Lion Inn 1. Carleton Place 5, Red Lion Inn 1. Carleton Place 5, Red Lion Inn 1.

Hill Widens Golf Lead

Dave Hill, who won only $220 in 1962 and gave it all to a destitute woman and his caddy, widened his lead at the mid-way point of the $100,000 Memphis open golf tournament Friday.

Hill fired a 66, giving him a two-round total of nine-under-par 133, his best 36-hole start since winning the Denver Open in 1961.

Rushing into a three-way tie for second, at 135, were South African Gary Player, Australian Bruce Crampton and American Chuck Courtney.

Damascus, Proud Clarion Draw Praise for Drills

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Favored Damascus and second choice Proud Clarion, drilling on tracks some 150 miles apart, drew words of approval from their trainers Friday and then, with eight other lightly regarded, 3-year-olds, were expected to start the 11th running of the $25,000-added Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct.

Damascus, winner of the Preakness and the 6-5 favorite to take the 1 1/4-mile third leg of the Triple Crown, breezed three-eighths of a mile in 37 3/5 seconds at Delaware Park in a final workout. Then trainer Frank Whiteley Jr., loaded the swift striking colt on a van for the trip to Aqueduct with the laconic comment: "He is ready. The blowout was just what I wanted. Keeping him away from Aqueduct shouldn't be a handicap. He knows the track."

REAL SHARP
The star of John Galtbreath's Darby Dan Farm elicited off three-eighths in 34 2/5 and went out the one-half mile in 48 2/5 seconds under a light hold by exercise boy Terry Grogan. The time for the three-eighths compared to a 35 2/5 second clocking posted by Proud Clarion the day before his Derby triumph.

"He was feeling real sharp," Gentry said. "I had to wave him down after three-eighths. I believe he is the type of horse that will go 1 1/4 miles."

The advance betting line, made by the track handicapper, quoted Proud Clarion at 5-2.

Entry fee was paid for Canada's Cool Reception, owned by Mrs. W. J. Seitz of Montreal, and her sister, Mrs. Vincent Reid, Toronto. The horse was purchased by the father of the two women, Larkin Maloney from E. P. Taylor's Windfields Farm.

REASON TO HAIL
The $250 fees were also paid for Patricia Jacobs' Reason to Hail, Michael Phipps' Gentleman James, John M. Schiff's Blasting Charge, Edgar Zantker's Prinkipo, J. M. Roebing's Gaylord's Feather, Herbert Alne's Favorable Turn and Mrs. Jane Leven's Nehoch's Bullet.

Gene Jacobs, trainer of Favorable Turn, waited until almost the last minute before deciding between the Belmont and the $25,000-added Kent at Delaware Park.

An additional payment of $1,000 each is due 45 minutes before the 2:30 p.m. PDT starting time Saturday. If the starting fee is paid by all of the 10, the Belmont will be worth $149,700 with the winner's share $105,850. Second place will be worth $25,000 with $12,500 for third and $6,250 for fourth.

The draw for post positions gave No. 1 to Damascus, who'll be ridden by Bill Shoemaker. The Belmont will call for his catlike quickness since the race starts midway of a turn with a one-eighth mile dash to the first turn leading to the first of the two long straightaways.

Proud Clarion, with Braulio Baeza replacing Bobby Ussery in the saddle, will leave from No. 4. He's usually a slow starter, but Gentry looks for Baeza to keep closer to the early pace than Ussery did in the Preakness, where his closing kick was not enough and came too late.

On the basis of past performances, Prinkipo and Cool Reception shape as the early speed horses. Prinkipo, named for the small Mediterranean island on which Leon Trotsky was exiled, has got away winging in his last three starts and won all by wide margins.

MATCHED RECORD
Cool Reception, whom trainer Lou Cavallaro didn't consider quite ready for the Kentucky Derby, matched Woodbine's 1-1/4-mile record of 1:42 3/5 in winning his last start by eight lengths.

The Canadian, with Johnny Sellers aboard, was made the co-third choice at 8-1 with Reason to Hail, a come-from-behind performer who has won a piece of the purse in his last seven races, including fourth in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness.

Prinkipo is a 15-1 outsider.

Tigers Up Sox Down Like Yo-Yo

Chicago White Sox and veteran knuckleballing relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm can be excused for believing that traditionally unlucky number 13 is really unlucky.

Kansas City Athletics defeated the Sox, 6-4, in 13 innings to enable Detroit Tigers, 9-7 winners over New York Yankees, to take over first place in the topsy-turvy race for the league leadership.

Low Krause, fourth of five Kansas City pitchers, provided himself with enough runs to bring his record to three wins ahead, 9-0, before New York started to make a comeback. Joe Sparda picked up his fifth victory without a loss with the help of reliever Dave Wickham.

Boston Red Sox moved into third place behind Jim Lonborg's three-hitter, defeating Cleveland Indians, 2-1, on Carl Yastrzemski's two-run homer in the sixth inning.

ROOKIE SHINES
At Baltimore, rookie Tom Phoebus breezed to his third consecutive shutout as the Orioles walloped Washington Senators, 12-0.

Frank Robinson brought his major-league-leading home run total to 15 with a three-run blast in the second inning, but was robbed of a second homer when centre fielder Fred Valentin reached above the fence to deflect the ball onto the field for a two-run double.

Paul Schaaf's two-run double gave pitcher Jim McGlothlin and the California Angels a 2-0 shutout over Minnesota Twins.

against seven losses by poking a bases-loaded single to score two runs.

Tommie Agee made a bad throw from left field which enabled Phil Ruff to score as well on the play.

AGEE ATONES
Agee made up for his mistake by homering in the bottom of the inning, but Billy Pierce came on to retire Pete Ward with two out and two men on base.

Willie Horton's three-run double sparked Detroit to its victory over New York at Yankee Stadium. Tigers went

WILLIS HAUNTS BUMS
In the National League, Maury Willis, in his first appearance as a Pirate at Dodger Stadium, came back to haunt Los Angeles by leading Pittsburgh to a 5-3 victory.

Willis drove in the winning run with a triple and scored twice. Vada Pinson's four hits led Cincinnati to a 3-4 extra-inning victory over Atlanta Braves while St. Louis kept pace with the leading Reds by knocking past Chicago Cubs, 2-1, on a homer by Lou Brock and Steve Carlton's three-hitter.

Svetlana's Faith from Within

By GEORGE CORNELL
NEW YORK (AP) — As she describes it, her change from atheism to belief in God came about without any identifiable cause or influence. It simply welled up, from some hidden spring within.

It was as if a "person was blind," and "one day his eyes became open and he can see the world," said Svetlana Alliluyeva, the daughter of the Soviet Union's Joseph Stalin.

"It is the feeling that comes to you one day."

As to where it came from, or why, she said she does not know. Yet her experience had biblical antecedents. And theology maintains that God often works incoherently in people, even where He is unknown and unnamed.

"The true light that enlightens every man," the gospel of John calls it. "The light shines in the darkness, and the darkness has not overcome it."

That was the situation of Stalin's daughter, reared and trained in an atmosphere not only of no religion but of vigorous antagonism to it.

"I was brought up in a family where there was never any talk of God," she said, except in a negative sense. "Since my childhood, I have been taught communism, and I did believe in it, as we all did, in my generation."

Then what sparked the religious turn in her? By her account, it had no origin that could be specified or explained.

Whatever it was, she said, at a press conference here recently, "I came to that conclusion myself, without anybody's help or preaching."

A subtle and intriguing phenomenon. Yet, in a theological context, it is recognized as a regular, operational mode of God, stirring even among men who are unaware of it, and without religious indoctrination, influence or institutions.

"It's something basic within man," commented Rev. Dr. Frederick Repp, an Episcopal clergyman of Fort Washington, N.Y. "Man is innately religious and can't help being religious. It's his nature, the way he was made."

"And it works in him, no matter what his circumstances."

As the World Council of Churches once put it, there is a "ceaseless work of the Holy Spirit among men" going on everywhere. "God has not left Himself without witnesses, even among men who do not yet know it."

Only after Mrs. Alliluyeva had turned toward religion without outside inducements did she begin studying it, she said. "After that, I began to read more."

Five years ago, in May 1962, she was baptized in Moscow into the Russian Orthodox Church, a communion which stresses the mysteries of God's sovereignty in contrast to Western Christianity's tendency to try to codify and define it.

Mrs. Alliluyeva, new to her faith and having come to it in an area where means of teaching it are meagre, described her faith as a "generalized belief in God."

"I believe that all religions are true and different religions are only the different ways to the same God." It was a rudimentary affirmation, a simple elemental acknowledgment, without its developed ramifications.

"For me God is the power of life and justice and when I am talking about God I am talking about happiness to live and to enjoy life on earth. He is, that mankind should

I feel that humanity should not be divided. The people should together work for much good."

Mrs. Alliluyeva said she also appreciated other Christian approaches, including Roman Catholicism and Christian Science, and saw values in Oriental religions such as Hinduism.

Liturgical Week Due Soon

New Building

Church For Saanich

A new church is included in the latest building figures issued for Saanich by the municipal inspection department.
A permit for construction valued at $100,000 was taken out during May by the First Christian Reformed Church on Douglas. It was second in the month only to a permit for a $343,500 boiler house and laundry at Glendale school on Markham Road.

LAGGING BEHIND

Despite the two projects, new construction in Saanich is lagging behind the 1966 pace. Permits for buildings to June 1 this year total $5,677,739 compared with $6,477,053 in the same month in 1966. May permits numbered 101, up from 83, while the number of dwellings increased to 38 from 32.

The Roman Catholic diocese of Victoria is announcing a liturgical week at St. Ann's Academy July 28 to Aug. 4.
Dr. Alexander Pelouquin, choral conductor, composer and teacher will be key speaker.

A member of the faculty of Boston College in Massachusetts, Dr. Pelouquin is an international authority on church music. He has conducted workshops and liturgical conferences in the U.S. and Europe.

WIDE-RANGING

Committees from various Vancouver Island parishes are now planning the intensive program which is aimed at Catholic clergy and non-Catholic clergy, the laity and religious. Theme of the week will be God, Man and Music. The program will consist of general sessions, choral and study groups, recitals and exhibits involving teenagers and adults.

CHAIRMAN

Chairman of the committees is Msgr. M. T. O'Connell. Ray Goulet of the program committee. Sister Patricia Thibault, St. Ann's novitiate, is in charge of pre-registration.

Jeanette Clark and Don Preston, president and vice-president of the Newman Club at the University of Victoria, and Fred Harfst are assisting.

Baptist Congregations See New Church Site

Despite inclement weather, several carloads of Baptists from Emmanuel and Stevenson Memorial Churches last Sunday visited the site of their combined church which will be built on 2.3 acres at the corner of Cedar Hill Cross Road and Henderson Road.

"It takes more than overcast skies and a few showers to keep us home on such an occasion," one of the group said.

One official was heard to say "Well, we Baptists always did like plenty of water."

The young people of the churches had marked the new church's boundaries with gaily-colored flags, bunting and descriptive posters.

A treasure hunt was held for the children followed by a short service of prayer and dedication conducted by Rev. Norman Archer, pastor of the two churches. The choir sang the 23rd Psalm and the congregation joined in the Doxology.

Presbytery Report

Capital Punishment Opposed

The Victoria Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church in Canada has gone on record as being opposed to the retention of capital punishment.

The decision will be given to a select committee formed to report on the subject at the 33rd General Assembly of the church meeting in Knox Presbyterian Church, Ottawa, Wednesday.

Attending from the Victoria Presbytery will be Rev. A. G. Faraday, Command Chaplain, CFB Esquimalt; Rev. A. M. Beston, Knox Church, Victoria; Frank Richardson, Knox Church, Sooke; and J. R. McKibben, St. Andrew's Church, Victoria.

Mr. Beston said a number of reports will be presented at the assembly which will review the past year's activities. From the reports will come recommendations dealing with the church's responsibilities in all areas of its work.

"The report of the General Board of Missions and the report of the Board of Christian Education will be particularly significant as they will indicate the course or direction we as a church will follow in the years to come," he said.

Middle East Lively Topic

In City Churches

The eyes of the world have been focused on the Middle East crisis for the past two weeks, and Rev. John Watson will discuss it Sunday morning in First Baptist Church.

"Will it all peter out in a torrent of words or will it escalate into world war?" asks Mr. Watson.

The whole drama is strangely reminiscent of the dilemma of King Zedekiah more than 2,500 years ago, he says.

The king found himself besieged and caught in the vise between two great opposing powers. He was justifiably disturbed and unsure as to the next strategic move, so he ordered the prophet Jeremiah into his presence.

"Is there any word from the Lord?" the king asked the prophet.

Mr. Watson will focus his sermon on this question in the light of the words of Jesus: "Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me."

About 30 officers, men and women of HMCS Malahat, Victoria's naval reserve division, will attend the Sunday morning service at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

However, their padre, Chaplain Bruce Molloy, RCNR, won't attend. He'll be at sea undergoing his annual naval training.

March to Church

The reserve sailors will march along Courtney Street just prior to the 11 a.m. service.

The lesson will be read by Cmdr. William Walker and Dr. J. L. W. McLean will preach on the subject Stewards of Life.

Rev. R. J. D. Morris will speak on the topic They Had Been With Jesus at 9:30 and 11 a.m. services in First United Church Sunday. Fred McGregor will share in the conduct of the 11 a.m. service.

At 7:30 p.m. in the chapel, Rev. Marvin Fowler will give a sermon on Partakers of the Divine Nature.

Dr. Emma M. Smiley will deliver a sermon entitled Almost Thou Persuadest Me at 11 a.m. Sunday in Victoria.

Truth Centre. Her subject at 7:30 p.m. will be Not Guilty.

Regular monthly meeting of the Men's Club will be held at 8 p.m. Monday. The Golden Key Study Groups will hold no further meetings until September. Afternoon healing meetings will continue to be held at 3 p.m. Tuesdays.

Soloist at St. Aidan's Church will be Roy Watson who will sing The Living God by O'Hara.

Rev. A. G. MacLeod's subject will be The Tenth Commandment and the choir under the direction of Mrs. Vera Barclay will sing the anthem The Great-est of These Is Love by Bitgood, with Marjorie Shurgeon as soloist. Evening services have been cancelled until September.

Lesson and Sermon

The lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches this Sunday is titled God the Only Cause and Creator.

The responsive reading is from Psalm 78 and includes this verse: "And they remembered that God was their rock, and the high God their redeemer."

The Unitarian Church of Victoria will present a panel discussion at the 11 a.m. service Sunday, on the theme Great Expectations.

The panel is a continuation of youth week discussions and will deal with education, politics and morality. On the panel will be adult members of the congregation, Alice Munro and Jim Steele, and two members of the church's Liberal Religious Youth Group, Sarah Harvey and Gerry Silver. Laura Mair will be moderator.

Rev. Norman Archer will start a new series of sermons at Emmanuel and Stevenson Memorial Baptist Churches Sunday morning.

Entitled A Relevant Gospel, the series will deal with the re-evaluation of the Christian position in a world torn by political, economic and social upheavals.

"Christians must come out from their cloistered churches," says Mr. Archer, "and spend much less of their energies in keeping the structure and organization of the church running smoothly."

World Situation

The Modern World is his first topic and will deal with the world situation with a view to applying the Christian message.

At 7:30 p.m. he will continue his series on Elijah. After the evening service teachers are invited to adjourn to the church lounge to discuss the sermon and its application to them.

Goodness of God will be the subject of Rev. E. V. Apps at 11 a.m. service at Central Baptist Church. At 7 p.m. he will speak on the topic "How Worship God".

Mr. Apps is the pastor of the First Baptist Church, North Vancouver, and also superintendent of Clarendon Court, a home for the aged sponsored by the Convention of Regular Baptist churches of B.C. On Wednesday evening at the 8:30 p.m. prayer and praise meeting, Dr. J. B. Rowell will speak on the subject Christ's Return—How Soon? Dr. Rowell will relate the question to the current Middle East crisis.

A family picnic at Camp Fringle, Shawnigan Lake, will depart family day-promotion Sunday services at Garden City United Church.

All members of the Sunday school departments will attend church for year-end ceremonies and at 2 p.m. members of the congregation will meet at the church for the drive to Shawnigan.

At the 11:15 a.m. service at Wilkinson Road United Church, Rev. H. R. Whitmore will speak on God's Challenge.

Christopher Hind will be formally admitted to the Cathedral Servers' Guild at Christ Church Cathedral Sunday morning.

Remote Families Linked with Sunday School

Founder Describes Caravan Mission

The founder of the Canadian Sunday School Caravan Mission, Eva Hasell, will speak at St. Luke's Anglican Church, Cedar Hill, at 8:45 p.m. Sunday.

Miss Hasell will tell of her work and will illustrate her talk with slides.

Her caravans have for many years visited small Canadian communities conducting vacation Bible schools, linking up families with the Sunday school by post and making contacts with prospective confirmation candidates for local clergy.

The caravans minister in a variety of ways to many lonely and isolated people. Miss Hasell makes her home in England and spends the summers in Canada.

Each van has a driver and a teacher. Many of the workers come out each year from Britain and give their services on a board, lodging and pick-up money basis. Other workers are recruited locally.

For her services, Miss Hasell was awarded an MBE and in 1965 was made an honorary Doctor of Divinity by the University of Emmanuel and St. Chad's College, Saskatoon.

Deeper Than It Looks

Unusual view of Christ Church Cathedral makes it look deceptively small and squat. Original design calling for erection of great central tower and transepts, has been abandoned.

New plan, harmonizing 13th Century architectural design of late J. C. M. Keith with more modern trends, is fairly complete but east end, bottom of photo, is temporary. —(J. T. Jones)

Proud Day for Church

Adventists Mark Opening Of Big Medical Centre

Victoria and Vancouver Island Seventh-day Adventists will mark Monday as a proud day, the day of the opening of a multi-million-dollar medical centre at the denomination's Loma Linda University in California.

Vancouver Island members of the church started four years ago to contribute toward the centre.

It includes a 510-bed hospital, classrooms, laboratories and research and clinical facilities. The structure is designed as a campus within a campus.

More than 2,000 rooms will serve the needs of hospital patients, teachers and students of medicine, dentistry, dietetics, occupational and physical therapy, nursing and other health professions.

Victoria pastor John Mustard says the educational program of his church is a worldwide one.

The 1,500,000-member church supports 5,168 schools around the world, including 80 secondary schools, 14 colleges and universities and hundreds of elementary schools in North America.

"But education for medical doctors and dentists, provided by Adventists at Loma Linda University is the most expensive kind of teaching program there is," the pastor says. "Once a year all Adventist churches in North America devote their entire week's offering to support the medical programs at Loma Linda."

Graduates of the university staff many of the church's 320 sanitariums, hospitals, dispensaries and clinics in nearly 200 countries.

Sing-Along in Square Starting for Summer

The first in a summer series of hymn sing-alongs will be held in Centennial Square at 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

Greater Victoria Centennial Society and The Salvation Army are co-operating in the programs which will be held on alternate Sundays this month and every Sunday in July and August.

The Victoria Citadel Band, under the direction of deputy bandmaster Larry Rowett, will provide music for the singing. Jerry Gosley is in charge of arrangements.

For Shut-Ins

A communion service especially designed for shut-ins will be broadcast by First United Church at 7 p.m. June 11 over CKDA.

Vatican Tells Why Pius Stayed Silent

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — The Vatican has published archives showing that Pope Pius XII kept silent on Nazi atrocities in Poland during the Second World War because he feared persecutions against the church.

The documents contained many pleas, mostly from Polish bishops both inside and outside the country, beseeching Pius to speak out. Many Poles believed the church had abandoned them, the document said.

The letters showed that the Vatican, at least until 1942, was aware of the massacres and horrors in Poland through the bishops and Vatican diplomats.

The documents were contained in two boxes which make up part of a series of books the Vatican is publishing on its correspondence and activities during the war.

A note circulated by the Vatican's secretary of state at the time of the Polish terror said "a public condemnation by the Holy See would be fully exploited for political purposes by one of the parties in the conflict."

"Moreover, the German government, feeling itself attacked, would doubtless do two things — it would step up the persecution of Catholicism in Poland and would stop by every means the Holy See having contact with the Polish episcopate and carrying out its charitable work which it can still, even in a reduced form, pursue."

Visual Aid Workshop In Seattle

A five-day workshop for adults on visual teaching is being sponsored by the Campus Christian Ministry June 12 through 16 at the University of Washington Lutheran Campus Centre in Seattle.

Registration for the five days is $15. Registration is being handled at Workshop, Lutheran Campus Centre, 4705 16th Avenue Northeast, Seattle, Wash. 98105.

The documents were contained in two boxes which make up part of a series of books the Vatican is publishing on its correspondence and activities during the war.

A note circulated by the Vatican's secretary of state at the time of the Polish terror said "a public condemnation by the Holy See would be fully exploited for political purposes by one of the parties in the conflict."

"Moreover, the German government, feeling itself attacked, would doubtless do two things — it would step up the persecution of Catholicism in Poland and would stop by every means the Holy See having contact with the Polish episcopate and carrying out its charitable work which it can still, even in a reduced form, pursue."

Panels of Lace Highlight Bride's White Silk Gown

Large standards filled with apricot, white and yellow gladiolus and daisies decorated Metropolitan United Church for the recent ceremony uniting in marriage Sandra Violet Milen, daughter of Cmdr. and Mrs. James F. Milen, 253 Chelsea Place, and Mr. Allan Leslie Crane, son of Mrs. C. F. Crane, Vancouver. Rev. A. E. King officiated at the evening wedding. Mr. B. Boothroyd was organist.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of white silk bengaline. Candlelight Alencon laid out the portrait neck-line and panels of lace appliques fell to skirt hemline in front the empire waistline and matching panels extended down the full train from a self-fabric rose in back. A full cathedral veil of silk illusion tulle flowed from a coronet headdress of fabric roses. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses and stephanotis.

Maid of honor, Miss Diana Milen, bride's sister, and bridesmaids, the Misses Lynn Bush, Wendy Cannon and Margaret Roberts were in floor-length, empire style gowns of orange and apricot over plain apricot peau de soie. The gown featured double floating panels caught by four self-fabric roses. They wore self-fabric floral headpieces and carried colonial bouquets of yellow marguerite daisies. Their jewelry included long, pearl drop earrings, gift of the bride.

Mr. Malcolm Crane was best man for his brother. Ushering were Mr. Robert Watson, Mr. Barry Rhoades, Mr. Darrel Rhoades.

Mr. George Milen proposed the toast to his niece at the reception which followed in the Officers' Mess at Canadian Forces Base, Esquimalt. A three-tiered cake decorated with white and yellow roses centered the bride's table.

For travelling on honeymoon to the Okanagan Valley the new Mrs. Crane changed into a champagne wool two-piece suit with fur collar in matching shade. She complemented her ensemble with an orange chiffon pill box hat and champagne accessories.

The newlyweds will make their home at Lake Cowichan. Have home out-of-town for the wedding were Mrs. S. Alger, bride's grandmother; Mr. and Mrs. F. Dadd, Mr. and Mrs. W. Dutcher, Mr. C. Harrison, Mr. J. Holmes, Capt. and Mrs. F. Hunter, Mr. B. Seabaran, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. Slack, Mr. and Mrs. A. Slack, Mr. and Mrs. C. Whips, Mr. R. Watson, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. George Milen, Mr. R. Milen and Miss T. Milen, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. D. Calleberg, Miss B. Hillmer, Mr. and Mrs. G. Letcher, Mr. and Mrs. L. Plater, Lake Cowichan; Mr. and Mrs. G. Evans, Coombs, B.C.

Lorraine Patterson Feted

The Palm Room of the Empress Hotel was the setting for a pre-nuptial tea given recently by Mrs. Emily Parkinson to honor her niece, Miss Lorraine Patterson, whose marriage to Mr. Robert Roch Lanthier takes place this afternoon.

Corsages of pink carnations were presented to the honored guest, her mother, Mrs. Norman Patterson, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. Charles Lanthier.

Presiding at the tea and coffee urns were Mrs. M. Rabey, Mrs. P. Stewart, Mrs. William Bromby and Mrs. G. McKennie. Mrs. William Nesbitt assisted the hostess.

Other guests were Mrs. J. J. Porter, Mrs. L. Kerridge, Mrs. H. Arnold, Mrs. G. Stancombe, Mrs. J. Wilkinson, Mrs. D. Lanthier, Mrs. E. H. Clarke, Mrs. E. Gilbert, Mrs. J. Barker, Mrs. T. Atkinson, Mrs. William Rothney, Mrs. K. Wilson, Mrs. F. Webb, Mrs. F. Fairfull, Mrs. James McMichael, Mrs. James Hay, Mrs. J. Watt, Mrs. R. Whitaker, Mrs. B. Waddell, Mrs. Gary Patterson of Vancouver, and the Misses Joan Stancombe and Michele Lanthier.

Mrs. G. B. McKennie and Mrs. William Rothney entertained recently at the Lampton Street home of the latter at a tea shower for Miss Patterson. A collage of mauve orchids and a cup and saucer were presented to the honored guest on her arrival.

Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. Lanthier, mothers of the bride-elect and groom-elect, also received cups and saucers. A shower cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Ken Wilson, centered the refreshment table.

Other guests were Mrs. T. Terry.

Says Economist

UN Should Develop Consumers' Branch

OTTAWA (CP) — The United Nations should develop a branch specifically for the protection of consumers, a United States economist said Tuesday.

Speaking at the opening session of the Consumers' Association of Canada, Dr. Colston Warner of Mount Vernon, N.Y., said an "international consumers' office" could foster world-wide concern about consumer protection and education.

Dr. Warner is president of the 1,200,000-member Consumers' Union of the United States, and also of the International Organization of Consumers' Unions, with 35 member-countries including Canada.

He said that although many countries have organizations to carry out impartial testing of products, the people who take advantage of their reports are usually already competent consumers.

Consumer testing was least used where it was most needed, in parts of the world "characterized by devastating poverty."

The biggest problem in these countries was not false or confusing advertising, Dr. Warner said, but adulteration of foodstuffs and false weights and measures.

SPREAD ENCOURAGED — Dr. Warner said the International Organization of Consumers' Unions was encouraging the spread of the consumer movement to underdeveloped countries.

Governments needed to show much greater concern for improvement of consumer welfare, Dr. Warner said.

About 12 delegates from across Canada are attending the three-day conference of the 20,000-member CAC.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Miss Andrea Bell, whose marriage to Mr. Garry L. Bellagente takes place this evening in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, was guest of honor at a wine and cheese shower party. In keeping with the theme of the party, given by the Misses Rochelle Bishop and Linda Hogan in the former's Esquimalt Road home, was a selection of chilled wines and unusual cheeses served immediately upon guests' arrival. Corsages were presented to the honored guest, her mother Mrs. A. M. Bell and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. Rosa Bellagente. Other guests were Mrs. Y. Bartlam, Mrs. Karen Griffiths, Mrs. F. Stowell, and the Misses Daria Ware and Jane MacKinnon.

Miss Bell was honored at a surprise shower given recently by her co-workers at Greater Victoria School Board. A large bride doll centered the refreshment table in the tea room of the School Board office. Colonial style laundry hamper, matching basket and bath mat set were presented to the guest of honor by the 40 guests attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jolly

Wed 60 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jolly of 1126 Leonard will be honored this evening at a family dinner on the occasion of their 60th wedding anniversary. About 30 members of their family will attend the dinner to be held at Fairley Road home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest S. Jolly.

The couple has another son, Frank R. Jolly who lives in the Edmonton area, and a daughter, Mrs. Alice Longman of Sidney. They also have 10 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Jolly who had known each other since they were 15 years of age were married in 1907. They farmed in the Edmonton district before moving to Victoria 20 years ago. Mr. Jolly was a newspaperman in England.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: As I sit here waiting for my adulterous husband to come home (usually between 3 a.m. and 6 a.m.) I feel compelled to write an answer to the Bronxville tramp who is mad because people don't look more kindly on "the other woman."

The Bronxville tramp said every married man who winds up in the arms of another woman is there because the other woman can give him something his wife cannot give him — namely a keen appreciation for life and the good things it has to offer. The dumbbell doesn't realize her chief attraction is sex, with no responsibilities. You can be sure if she makes any demands on that married man he'll drop her like a hot potato.

I am sick of asking myself, "Where did I fall?" I can't help but say I did my damndest, but no woman can make a marriage work by herself. It was my husband who failed. And he failed because he was too immature and too weak to accept the responsibilities of a husband and father.

I know you will not print my letter because you are pro-male, and further more it has a cuss word in it, so what can be your excuse? — GETTING LATE IN DALLAS

Dear Dallas: Here's your letter and a good one it is — cuss word and all. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: The biggest mistake of my life was signing to go steady with Jake. Now I am fed up with him and his possessive ways but I just can't get him to leave me alone.

I told Jake two weeks ago that I wanted to call it quits. He bawled his head off and I didn't have the heart to go through with it. Saturday I told him again that I just had to be free to date others and that he should stop calling me. He said if I quit going with him he would become mentally disturbed and think out of school and become a bum.

I don't want to be responsible for the ruination of a person's life but I really am bugged by this guy's possessiveness and I need to know what to do. —FOG LOVABLE

Dear Love: Bid him farewell and make it a positive statement — not the first sentence of a debate. Too many girls are flattered by a boy's persistence, so they encourage him to keep hanging around by being less than emphatic. Could you be one of those?

Dear Ann Landers: My parents are driving me crazy. I am not a teen-ager, I'm a married woman with kids of my own. Dad has been seeing some gold-digger for five years.

Expo Wizard Tapped In Causeway Tangle

OTTAWA (CP)—Col. Edward Churchill is going to get another chance to live up to his reputation as the man who solves building problems and gets things done.

Next headache for the 54-year-old former army engineer, acclaimed for his yeoman work in getting Expo 67 up and open on time, is the causeway to link Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick.

Works Minister McIlraith announced this week that recent construction bids for a section of the nine-mile causeway were far higher than anticipated. The government had turned them down.

It had decided to take another look at the design and might drop the rail facility planned for the bridge-and-tunnel link across Northumberland Strait. This would make it a vehicle road only.

A works department spokesman said Friday it had been decided to bring Col. Churchill in as trouble-shooter supervising the design and construction of the causeway.

One of Col. Churchill's aims probably will be to keep the project rolling toward its target completion date of late 1970. Mr.

McIlraith said the new design study would not necessarily mean a delay for the project. A $150,000,000 price tag was put on the causeway when the government announced it. In view of the recent high tenders, Col. Churchill probably will be saddled with trying to hold the final figure close to this amount.

Engineering problems will be the main concern for the Winnipeg native, expected to wind up his duties with Expo in about a month. But he could find himself involved in political questions, too.

The causeway has had political overtones since the government announced the go-ahead for it July 8, 1965, four months before the general election. It had been the subject of many questions in the Commons.

Mr. McIlraith said there had been no attempt to mislead the House and the target date would not necessarily be delayed.

Looks Pose Hazards

Victim of sore toe is nurse Kim Guyette of Victoria, who was stomped on by autograph hunter who mistook her in city cafe for actress Kim Novak. Hamilton-born Miss Guyette says she has same identity problem when she goes to Vancouver. She would rather work as photographer than as model for celebrity-happy shutterbugs. — (Robin Clarke)

Closed Shop Crisis

Court Studies Checkoff Case

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada reserved judgment Friday on an Orangeville, Ont., man's five-year legal battle to refuse payment of union dues under a compulsory check-off agreement.

Dirk Hoogendoorn, formerly employed by Greening Metal Products and Screening Equipment Co. of Orangeville, was fired because of his insistence that political and religious convictions barred him from paying dues to the United Steel Workers of America.

He objected chiefly to the union's financial support of the New Democratic Party.

Mr. Hoogendoorn, a metal weaver who now has another job, is being financed in his legal campaign by the Committee for Justice and Liberty, a semi-religious organization in Toronto opposed to socialism and trade unions.

At stake in the controversial case is the future of the closed union shop and compulsory dues checkoff, both now embodied in Ontario labor law.

Mr. Hoogendoorn's lawyer, Brian A. Kelsey of Toronto, appealed to the Supreme Court to quash an arbitrator's ruling last year which directed Greening Metal either to get Mr. Hoogendoorn's signature on a checkoff agreement or dismiss him.

Mr. Kelsey said the arbitration hearing was held without giving Mr. Hoogendoorn notice, thus denying him an opportunity to defend himself.

NDP Delegates Vote Tonight

Liquor Takeover Sought

BURNABY — The provincial New Democratic Party today will hear an appeal from Victoria delegates for government takeover of breweries and distilleries.

It is one of four Island resolutions brought to this convention, the highlight of which will be the leadership vote tonight.

The Victoria delegates want private interests in the manufacture of alcohol eliminated, more education on the hazards of alcohol and larger centres for the treatment of its victims.

Other resolutions from Victoria:

● The supply of Canadian war materials to the United States should be reduced to its level prior to the Viet Nam conflict.

● Universities should set up training programs in co-operative and Credit Union management.

● Something should be done to organize a spokesman for Indians on each reservation in British Columbia who could get together to discuss Indian problems at the provincial level.

Delegates from NDP groups in Victoria, Seattle, Oak Bay and Esquimalt, along with those from every other Vancouver Island constituency, are supporting Robert Strachan, provincial leader for 11 years.

On the ballots which will be marked late tonight will also be the name of Tom Berger, a 34-year-old Vancouver lawyer whose campaign for the leadership has been gathering momentum.

Some convention observers say he has won the hearts of about 40 per cent of the delegates, mainly people who look on themselves as the NDP's intellectual element.

He also will have considerable support from trade union delegates, about 50 of whom are at this meeting.

Mr. Berger's feet within the party describe him as a protégé of E. P. O'Neil, organizer for the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphate and Paper Mill Workers.

Because of that, they say his thinking on unions clashes with that of the rank-and-file NDP, which is growingly Canadian-headquartered unions.

Bullets Fell Girl, Gunmen, Policemen

By GE. UPI

Two gunmen, a policeman and an innocent bystander were shot in Canadian and American gun battles Friday.

Toronto Constable Paul Hamilton, 26, and a 15-year-old boy whom he shot, are in satisfactory condition in hospital with bullet wounds. The boy, wounded by the policeman, has been charged with attempted murder.

GIRL WOUNDED

In Dallas, Texas, a gunman trying to force a hostage into a car was shot in a gun duel with a bank guard and a police officer. Eighteen-year-old Joan Adams was shot in the abdomen when she walked in between gunman Terry Pittman and traffic policeman C. W. Clark. Pittman had already been wounded by bank guard W. D. Tetford but continued on until he was killed by Clark. Both Pittman and Miss Adams are in critical condition.

SUSPICIOUS TRUCK

The Toronto incident occurred on a residential street in west-end Toronto after Constable Hamilton stopped two boys early Friday morning in a truck reported to have been driven away from a break-in at a nearby music store.

A witness said one of the boys pulled a gun and shot at Constable Hamilton, who was alone. The policeman fired back as he fell, wounding one of the boys. The other escaped and police are staging an extensive search for him.

Some witnesses said the boy who escaped may have been wounded. They said he was screaming as he ran through nearby backyards.

40 Boats In Race

LADYSMITH — About 40 Victoria boats will converge here this weekend.

The boats belong to the Vancouver Island Power Squadron, and they will attend the organization's annual meet.

A predicted log race for the squadron cup will be held today, starting from Shute Reef, ending at Manana Lodge, where Sunday's activities will be held.

Call for Unity

Union Power Threat Looms Over Councils

By A. M. MURPHY
City Hall Reporter

POWELL RIVER — If municipalities don't get together in a united front they are going to be "hacked around" by one of the strongest unions in the country.

This warning was given Friday by C. S. McKelvey, staff assistant and researcher for the union of B.C. Municipalities, speaking at the annual meeting of the association of Vancouver Island Municipalities.

"The increasing spiral of wage demands and benefits is going to accelerate, simply because one city clerk in a given community doesn't pick up the phone and find out what's going on in a neighboring community," he said.

"Unions are strong and united—they exchange information to their mutual advantage—so why shouldn't we?" Mr. McKelvey said. "They're playing us one against the other."

He warned that the Canadian union of Public Employees is a tough, hard-driving and powerful organization. He said it is going to make heavy demands in 1968, the year when most contracts are due.

"It's going to be a long, hot summer," said Mr. McKelvey, speaking for what he termed "a group of employers."

Questions which followed Mr. McKelvey's talk indicated municipal people are worried about wage demands.

"It's got to be like it used to be with the teachers," said a Port Alberni representative.

He asked not to be named, "for fear of reprisals."

"They (the teachers) were underpaid for so long, now they are going overboard."

More than 60 representatives of Island communities were present at the conference. The municipal-union wage problem seemed the primary issue.

The matter of the division of school costs between the province and municipalities did not loom as large as expected.

There was a degree of satisfaction at the impending cancellation of the provincial rule that a five per cent mandatory limit be set on assessment increases in any one year.

The municipalities felt this rule was unfair, as property values rose, so should the municipalities' rights to increase assessment.

And thereby gain more taxation.

NANAIMO — The "Get Out And Vote" campaign of Regional College Advisory Committee chair, Jack Whitman, is starting to move into action.

Mr. Whitman this week chose a chairman for the campaign, which seeks to encourage a "Yes" vote for the 800-capacity regional college, to be built at a cost of $15,000,000.

He was named campaigner Ald. Jack Parker.

Names in the News

FBI Never Checked Shaw

WASHINGTON — The U.S. justice department, in a major reversal, has conceded the FBI never investigated New Orleans businessman Clay Shaw in its probe of the Kennedy assassination.

Last March 23, U.S. Attorney-General Ramsey Clark said Shaw, facing trial soon for conspiracy, was cleared of any involvement by the FBI. Now, this is changed to: "Nothing arose indicating a need to investigate Mr. Shaw."

COPENHAGEN — The government will formally announce today the engagement of Danish Princess Benedikte, 23, to Prince Richard of Sayn-Wittgenstein of Germany.

LONDON — Rapping Stone member Brian Jones, 25, and Swiss-born entertainer Barbra Streisand, 24, elected trial by judge on narcotics charges resulting from a police raid on Jones' apartment last February.

TYLER, Texas — Financial

manipulator Billie Neil Kahn, already serving a long federal term, pleaded no contest to a state swindling charge and drew a concurrent term of two to three years.

ATHENS — A man and wife married for 60 years died moments apart. Nicholas Montanakis, 85, and his wife Cleoniki, 95, married since 1907, both suffered heart attacks.

TORONTO — Alfred Bouding, 75, last survivor of the Moose River mine disaster in Nova Scotia 31 years ago, died in hospital.

HOLLYWOOD — Singer Judy Garland says she will marry in September for the fifth time. She will wed her publisher, Tom Green.

HOUSTON — Five Texas Southern University students were indicted for murder in connection with the killing of police officer Louis Kuba in rioting May 17.

OTTAWA — Doctors said Canadian Labor Congress president Claude Jodan, 54, is still unconscious two weeks after suffering a stroke. His condition is fair and the entire right side of his body is paralyzed.

ATHENS — King Constantine observed his 27th birthday Friday in seclusion with his family.

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — Dr. Lawrence P. Jones, longtime head of the Upjohn pharmaceutical manufacturing company, died at 83.

VANCOUVER — A psychiatric examination was ordered for David Morris Trowler, 27, charged with the capital slaying of storekeeper Mrs. Ng Chang.

LONDON — The Queen named Ven. Martin Gleeson Sullivan, a 57-year-old New Zealander, as dean of St. Paul's Cathedral.

JACKSON, Miss. — Civil rights leader Charles Evers called on young Negroes of craft age in Mississippi to refuse induction until members of their race are placed on state selective service boards.

PARIS — Former premier Pierre Mendes-France, 60, is ill and has been ordered by his doctors to rest for two months. The nature of his ailment was not reported.

MADRID — A Spanish Socialist whose baggage was found crammed with 56 banned political books when he returned from France was jailed two years and fined $336. Octavio Jorda, 30, said he bought them for private study.

CAPE TOWN — Senator J. F. Naude, 78-year-old president of the Senate, has been sworn in as acting president of South Africa. President-elect Eben Dlamini is in hospital here recovering from a brain hemorrhage.

VANCOUVER — A bank robbery charge against Glen Donald Smith, 35, was dismissed by Magistrate Les Howley because the accused was too drunk to know what he was doing. Witnesses said Smith walked out of a bank empty-handed Dec. 7 after handing a holdup note to a teller.

ELIZABETH THE SECOND,
by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom,
Canada and Her other Realms and Territories,
QUEEN, Head of the Commonwealth,
Defender of the Faith.

To ALL TO WHOM these Presents shall come or whom the same may in anywise concern,

GREETINGS:

a proclamation

DONALD S. MAXWELL, Deputy Attorney General, Canada. WHEREAS it is desirable and Our Privy Council for Canada has advised that a Proclamation do issue setting aside a week in 1967 to be known as "Veterans Week" to bring to the attention of Canadians the importance of the contribution made by members of the Canadian Armed Forces, particularly during the wars in which Canada has participated as a nation.

Now Know Ye that We, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council for Canada, do by this Our Proclamation

1. Set aside and name the week of June 11 to June 17, 1967, as "Veterans Week";
2. Recommend that on Sunday, June 11, 1967, memorial services be held in communities in Canada to mark the sacrifices made by those Canadians who gave up their lives in defence of freedom; and
3. Call upon all Canadians to wear on the mid Sunday June 11, 1967, and during other observances and occasions that may be held during Veterans Week such insignia as give evidence of their service to Canada.

On All Veterans Our Loving Subjects and all others whom these Presents may concern are hereby required to take notice and to govern themselves accordingly.

In Testimony Whereof We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent and the Great Seal of Canada to be hereunto affixed. Witness Our Right Trusty and Well-beloved Counsellors, ROBERT MANNING, Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of Canada.

By Our Governor General, in Our City of Ottawa, this second day of May in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and sixty-seven and in the sixteenth year of Our Reign.

By Command,
JEAN MIQUELON,
Deputy Registrar General of Canada.

Grant to Victoria Short of Request

Dr. Malcolm Taylor, president of the University of Victoria, said Friday UVic's per-student share of the funds should have been equal to that of Simon Fraser University.

UVic, with 3,400 students last winter, receives $6,926,143 in the coming year. Simon Fraser, which had 4,200, gets $11,649,316. "At this stage of our development we should be on an equal per-student grant," said Dr. Taylor.

He said the amount received was less than asked for, and will cause the university to cut back on some plans. He declined to say what they might be, but added that no faculty appointments already made would be cancelled.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Strikes, rebellions and demonstrations by students and teachers pose a threat to academic freedom and the status of universities, the retiring president of the University of British Columbia said Friday.

Dr. John MacDonald told the UBC convocation that current university disturances are "particularly disturbing."

Dr. MacDonald, in his last major public engagement before leaving June 30, made the remarks after receiving an honorary doctorate of science. He also received a citation of honor for his five years as president.

He said the future of academic freedom and university autonomy is perhaps the most important issue affecting the welfare and survival of universities.

"The problem arises because of misunderstanding of the meaning of academic freedom and the ways in which it differs from some other kinds of freedom — such as civil rights or freedom of speech," he said.

"Compounding the difficulties arising from misunderstanding are new forms of organized political activity by students and faculty in which the campus is used as a base for attacks on various aspects of society.

"These activities sometimes have involved demonstrations, strikes, sit-ins, civil disobedience, violence and demagoguery. They represent new dimensions in political protest."

Dr. MacDonald said he was not speaking against dissent or civil disobedience, but "only of kinds of behavior... which constitute a threat to academic freedom."

Academic freedom is the right of a teacher to express opinion within his special field of competence, Dr. MacDonald said, but "academic freedom does not give him special rights in other fields."

Dr. MacDonald said it is an obvious but neglected fact that pressure, strikes and demonstrations interfere with freedom to teach — which is a violation of academic freedom.

"Likewise, though not the same thing, the student's freedom to learn should be protected," he said.

Gulf Solution Race Against Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — British Prime Minister Wilson warned Friday that failure to end peacefully Egypt's declared blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba could lead to not only a local war in the Middle East but a much larger conflict "in a matter of hours."

Wilson held a press conference at the British Embassy after spending several hours in conference with President Johnson on the Middle East crisis.

He said the U.S. and Britain are seeking a peaceful solution through action in the United Nations Security Council and through issuance of a declaration on the blockade issue by the world's maritime powers.

The declaration would assert that the gulf and the entrance to it through the Strait of Tiran constitute an international waterway for all shipping. Israel has announced it will sign the declaration, so its shipping would be covered.

Wilson raised the question whether the Egyptian announcement of the blockade two weeks ago, primarily against Israeli shipping, was a threat and whether the blockade would in fact be enforced. If it cannot be avoided, he said, and if it is enforced, "then I believe there is a very, very dangerous state in which not only a local conflict but a much larger conflict might be only a matter of hours."

He was asked whether he thought Russia was seeking to exploit or inflame the situation in the Middle East, where Israel and the Arab states are locked in controversy over Egypt's blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba.

Wilson said his foreign minister, George Brown, had recently been in Moscow and Brown said he "fully accepts... the sincerity of the Soviet government in their desire to see restraint exercised in the Middle East."

Wilson repeated here, as he had said in London and Ottawa, that "time is not on our side" in seeking a solution of the crisis. Whether the peace-seeking powers have only a day or a week in which to do their work, he said, "we've got to use every minute."

Wilson reported that the United States and his government are conferring "capital by capital" with other maritime powers on a declaration stating their position that the Gulf of Aqaba is an international waterway open to the shipping of all countries.

"We are concerned with the assertion and acceptance" of that right, he said.

Wilson refused to say in response to questions whether Britain would take forcible action if Egypt rejected the declaration of the maritime powers, once it is issued. Asked whether he thought

Russia linked the situation in the Middle East, where it is backing Egypt, with the war in Vietnam, Wilson replied he was aware of a number of the theories about Soviet positions linking the two.

But he said he thought Soviet motives in the Middle East "were more connected with their view of their influence in the Middle East than with any threat to South-east Asia."

Reds Shun Holy War, But

VETO THREAT CLOUDING UN

From CP, UPI, AP

While gloom spread Friday among United Nations diplomats who saw few prospects of any Security Council action that might cool the Middle East crisis, reports from Britain indicated that Russia has no intention of joining the Arabs in a "holy war" against Israel.

U.S. sources said Ambassador Arthur Goldberg is determined to press to a vote his motion calling on all UN parties to heed Secretary-General Thant's call for restraint so as to give international diplomacy time to work out a peaceful solution.

The council is scheduled to meet again in an unusual Saturday session at 10 a.m. EDT.

BRIEF OF VOTES

But there was no assurance that the U.S. draft resolution would win the required nine votes in the 15-power council. Even if it did, it was regarded as almost certain to encounter a Soviet veto. See also Page 7.)

Non-permanent council members, including Canada, persisted in efforts to come up with a compromise resolution that would limit itself to an appeal for utmost restraint by all sides. India, Denmark and Ethiopia were taking the leading roles in these efforts, but there was doubt that such a mild approach to a crisis issue would satisfy a majority of the members.

NO DIRECT SHARE

Russia was reported Friday to have hinted to its Syrian and Egyptian allies they must not expect direct Soviet support if they start a "holy war" or extermination of Israel.

There was no official confirmation of these reports. But diplomatic circles gave them credence.

Ottawa Denies Damage Story

BELGRADE (AP) — The Yugoslav official news agency Tanjug in a report from Cairo said Canadian soldiers in the United Nations forces in the Sinai Peninsula destroyed equipment belonging to the United Nations before they left for Canada.

A Canadian Press report from Ottawa said a Canadian forces headquarters spokesman denied categorically Friday night the Yugoslav news agency report.

The Yugoslav agency said Canadians tried to destroy equipment for turning salt water into drinking water and that Yugoslav soldiers prevented it.

The Canadian spokesman said there was "absolutely no credibility" to the reports. The only material destroyed was Canadian-owned cipher equipment for coding use.

Poison Gas Used Says Red Cross

From AP-Belton

GENEVA — The International Red Cross committee announced Friday a village in northern Yemen was attacked with poison gas bombs.

The committee did not identify the village or give precise details of its findings.

It expressed "deep concern over these combat measures which are absolutely banned under international law" and said it has communicated the report of its delegation in Yemen to all parties concerned in the conflict.

It invited them to give their solemn pledge "never again to use, under any circumstances, poisonous gas or any other poisonous substance."

Meanwhile, two former British cabinet ministers charged that the United Arab Republic was using poison gas in Yemen.

Duncan Sandy, former Conservative party defence minister, and Frederick Bellenger, a former Labor party secretary for war, presented a motion in the House of Commons depicting "the continued use of poison gas by the Egyptian forces in the Yemen."

Egypt has denied previous allegations that it has used poison gas in Yemen where it is supporting the republican regime against the monarchists.

The Red Cross announcement said the all-Swiss organization had ordered a medical team to the village after reports that many of its inhabitants had died of asphyxiation following an air attack.

Yemen monarchists charged that Egyptian bombers killed 75 persons in a poison gas raid on the frontier town of Wadran May 11 and that a second poison gas bombing attack killed 100 in another village May 17.

Live-In For Lice

VANCOUVER (CP) — Hippie hair styles may be responsible for the return of the louse, the director of medical services for Vancouver schools said Thursday.

Dr. Hossein Moghadam said some instances of head lice have been discovered in Vancouver schools and said the hippies' long-hair fashions may be at fault.

It may be because the long-haired boys don't shampoo or comb their hair often.

Refused Order

Tribunal Convicts Physician

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — A military tribunal Friday convicted Capt. Howard B. Levy of disobeying an order to train U.S. Special Forces medics and with promoting disloyalty among United States troops.

Levy, 30, a dermatologist from Brooklyn, N.Y., stood between two lawyers as the verdict was ready after nearly six hours of deliberation by the 10-member court tribunal.

Levy's sentence will be decided today. He could receive up to 11 years in prison on five charges.

The trial, which produced unprecedented defence theories, began May 10. But the judge ruled out both the defence efforts to prove that special forces troops committed war crimes and that Levy's medical ethics gave him the right to disobey an order.

In a military trial the tribunal decided the sentence.

Victory Within Reach Strachan Tells NDP

VANCOUVER (CP) — New Democrat leader Robert Strachan predicted Friday night his party will form the next government in British Columbia — if it can duplicate its feat in the 1966 provincial election by gaining another six per cent of the popular vote the next time around.

Mr. Strachan, 53, was addressing the opening session of the party's annual convention at a high school auditorium in suburban Burnaby. He recapped the party's progress during the past year and the last session of the B.C. legislature. (See also Page 24.)

"The NDP got 250,000 votes and increased its percentage of the popular vote from 28 per cent to 34 per cent," said Mr. Strachan. "A similar increase in the next election will make us the next government of British Columbia."

During his report to the 450 convention delegates from throughout B.C., Mr. Strachan steered away from the leadership challenge issued by Vancouver MLA Tom Berger.

New Democrats will vote tonight on the leadership. Mr. Berger, 34, is giving Mr. Strachan the first serious competition for the job since he was elected party leader in 1956.

Mr. Strachan said the NDP made substantial progress

Strachan

under his leadership in the past year. He said the 18 party members to the 35-seat legislature had done an effective job in "keeping the government off balance."

Illustrating his performance as a party leader, the Vancouver Island member from Cowichan-Malahat said he had visited universities, public schools, industrial plants, farm and labor conventions promoting the NDP platform.

He drew a standing ovation

Hey, Landlords!

Strike, Rent Freeze Sparks Riot

NEW YORK (AP) — A riotous mob of 800 landlords stormed city hall Friday hurling rocks and smashing windows after a vain attempt to induce Mayor John V. Lindsay to soften rent-control laws. Two women were injured.

"We want to see our hippie mayor," a leader of the mob shouted.

The demonstrators got nowhere with Lindsay, who refused to see the leaders. The landlords were incensed over city hall efforts to end a strike of building service employees in some 1,000 rent-controlled Manhattan apartment houses.

The mayor accused the landlords of inviting the walkout to wreck rent controls.

Six glass door panes were smashed at the entrance to city hall, and a thrown stone out the leg of Edie Radley, 28, an assistant secretary to Lindsay, who was standing 25 feet inside the foyer.

Outnumbered police turned in a riot call and at the height of the melee 150 officers fought the mob. There were two arrests.

Thousands of lunchtime strollers were attracted to the scene by the commotion.

Earlier in the day, Lindsay declared a health emergency as a result of a week-long wage strike by 5,000 members of Local 32-B, AFL-CIO Building Service Employees. He ordered sanitation men to cross picket lines and begin carting away tons of garbage that had gone uncollected because of the walkout.

The strike of superintendents and employees of rent-controlled Manhattan apartments began May 26. It cut off elevator service, mail deliveries, garbage disposal and heat and hot water for an estimated 130,000 families.

Local 32-B demanded that the landlords meet the terms of an earlier contract signed by 4,000

other Manhattan apartment owners, set under rent control. It provided an $18-a-week increase over three years of wages that averaged $35 a week.

The rent-controlled landlords contended they were willing to meet the terms, but only if the city granted them the right to increase rents to compensate for increased operating costs.

Lindsay called this a ruse to wreck rent controls—"simply a device to hold a gun at the head of the city."

Arranged as the mysterious "Mr. Z" who allegedly threatened by letter to destroy one of TWA's planes was Joseph Vito Grimaldi, 37, a Bowery resident who sometimes earned $12 a day as a messenger and who paid $1.50 a night for his "dog."

The FBI said Grimaldi, a slim man with gray sideburns, a clipped moustache and two-day beard, sent TWA a letter last April saying the airline dropped packets of money, messages sent through the personnel column of the New York Times and finally, a five-block chase and capture.

According to authorities, the plot involved scheduled air-

College Vote Discussion Next Week

PARKSVILLE.—Parksville and District Chamber of Commerce is arranging a meeting to place the facts before taxpayers prior to the September plebiscite on the Regional College.

With this end in view, a panel of experts will attend a meeting, open to the public, and set for Thursday, June 8 at 8 p.m. in the Island Hall Hotel convention hall.

The panel will be prepared to answer questions on every aspect of the proposed project—including finance.

Parksville Chamber president Verne Huntley has asked for co-operation from the Quilicum Beach Chamber and school board in attracting a good turnout.

"It will provide the first and only opportunity for a personal interview in connection with the forthcoming plebiscite."

"Now is the time to find out the facts before the vote," Mr. Huntley said.

Trailer Home Burned Down

ERRINGTON — A partially furnished trailer home, belonging to John Abrosimo, has been burned to the ground. Cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

Preparations were being made to move the trailer from where it was parked on the home property of a member of the family to a recently purchased property on Matterson Road when the fire started. Parksville RCMP are investigating.

In other news, pioneer medallions were presented to four Errington residents at a ceremony at the War Memorial Hall.

Mrs. Cora Ware, Mrs. Elizabeth Klemm, Mrs. Elsie Waddell, and George Henry Klemm were presented with the medallions by Dr. H. R. McDiarmid, MLA for this riding.

The head table was charmingly decorated with flowers, centennial emblems and a large

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

It's next Tuesday that the six new National Hockey League club actually become a reality. That's the day they go shopping for their playing talent in the margin basement set up by the six old clubs. But when the newcomers have completed the shopping they are allowed they will still be major league in name only. Almost all of the merchandise being offered is either shop-worn or factory rejects. When they get the full details in their Wednesday morning newspaper, hockey fans will know what they have suspected ever since the NHL clubs announced their shopping plan—that never before in hockey has so much been paid for so little.

No more than 15 or 20 proven NHL performers will be available in the expansion draft. But together on one club they would almost certainly finish last in the established NHL division. Dividing them among six new clubs leaves little around which to build a major league club. On the other hand, the six old clubs won't be appreciably weaker and could even be better. The two goalkeepers and 18 other players they will give up, at $100,000 per player, won't claim much of their cream. What may surprise hockey fans is just how little their lineup will be changed next season.

Take Montreal Canadiens, the club that will have to leave the best NHL talent on the unprotected list. If the Canadiens protect defencemen J. C. Tremblay, Jacques Laperriere, Terry Harper, and Ted Harris and forwards Henri Richard, Jean Beliveau, Ralph Backstrom, John Ferguson, Bobby Rousseau, Yvan Cournoyer and Gilles Tremblay, it means that Claude Provost, Claude Larose, Leon Rochefort, Dave Balon, Jean-Guy Talbot and Dick Duff will be among those on the Montreal draft list.

That's talent by no means bad, but Canadiens will be able to reclaim at least two of the seven regulars under the rule which permits a club to place another player on the protected list after each of the first two draft choices made by expansion clubs. Canadiens will be hurt the most, but add the two reclaimed players to the 11 protected plus goalkeepers Gump Worsley and Rogation Vachon, and they won't exactly be suffering for want of talent. They can probably fill the gaps with promising young talent from their farm system. To make certain this was possible, established clubs managed to protect quite a number of first-year pros and 10, I believe, graduating juniors.

Just how well the established clubs protected themselves for the expansion draft can perhaps be best shown by how well it will affect Toronto Maple Leafs, the Stanley Cup champions.

After a question and answer session with manager-coach Punch Imlach during his recent Victoria visit, it appeared established that the Leafs will protect goalkeeper Johnny Bower, defencemen Tim Horton, Marcel Pronovost, Larry Hillman and Bob Baun; forwards Dave Keon, Pete Stenkowski, Bob Pulford, Jim Pappin, Frank Mahovlich, Brian Conacher and Ray Ellis.

"Most clubs," Imlach said, "will protect four defencemen and seven forwards." If the above list is correct, the Leafs will have two pretty good reinforcements in Mike Walton and Murray Oliver on their draft list along with such regulars as defencemen Al Stanley and wingmen George Armstrong and Larry Jeffrey. But only the presence of Armstrong seemed to disturb Imlach who has a tremendous respect for the veteran.

"That's the unfair part of the draft," he complained. "There's no way I can protect him and I could lose my captain."

(Armstrong Friday night announced his retirement, presumably because the Leafs were not going to protect him. Imlach said he would not accept the resignation. Armstrong remains eligible for the draft, but if he refuses to report could not be used by the Leafs in any capacity, including an executive post. The same applies to Bernie Gosselin at New York.) But Imlach knows he won't lose both Walton and Oliver because he can reclaim one of them at least as the other is picked. Or if he has a preference for one of them he can put Baun on the draft list and reclaim either Baun or the unprotected centre depending on which one is drafted first.

After that, the Leafs will probably lose Jeffrey and some borderline farm-club talent but expansion clubs will almost certainly shy away from taking the veteran Stanley and the chances are that the Leafs will have Armstrong back before it's over. With two of their prime youngsters, defencemen Jim McKenney and forward Wayne Carleton, protected because last season was their first as pros, the Leafs shouldn't lose much that counts outside of Jeffrey and Eddie Shuck, who was traded away for Oliver and didn't count much last season.

Last season the Leafs lineup read, most of the time, as Bower, Sawchuk, Horton, Pronovost, Hillman, Stelmach, Baun, Stenkowski, Pulford, Pappin, Keon, Armstrong, Kelly, Walton, Conacher, Jeffrey, Mahovlich, Ellis and Shuck. Next season it is likely to include Bower, Horton, Pronovost, Hillman, Baun, Stanley, Stenkowski, Pulford, Pappin, Keon, Armstrong, Walton or Oliver, Conacher, Mahovlich, Ellis, McKenney, and Carleton. And there's a chance that it will also include Sawchuk.

Kelly is missing because he retired and for the other, Chelley, the Leafs put another $2,000,000 in their coffers. With McKenney and Carleton, they may even be a better club. The established NHL clubs didn't take in six new clubs. They just took them.

Red Lion	0	1	.000

Next game: Sunday-Carlton vs. Luckies at 2:30 p.m. at the Victoria Sports Centre. Tickets: $2.00, $1.00, 50c.

Luckies moved into a first-place tie with Carlton in Men's Senior Open Softball League action at the Victoria Sports Centre Friday by defeating Red Lion 5-1.

For Luckies, it was the 12th straight win without a victory leaving them nine games back of the leaders and six behind Carlton and Red Lion who are tied for third place.

LANSBERRY VILLAIN

Glenn Lansberry was the villain, coming on to stop a rally in the second inning and turning in a creditable performance, striking out six while allowing one run.

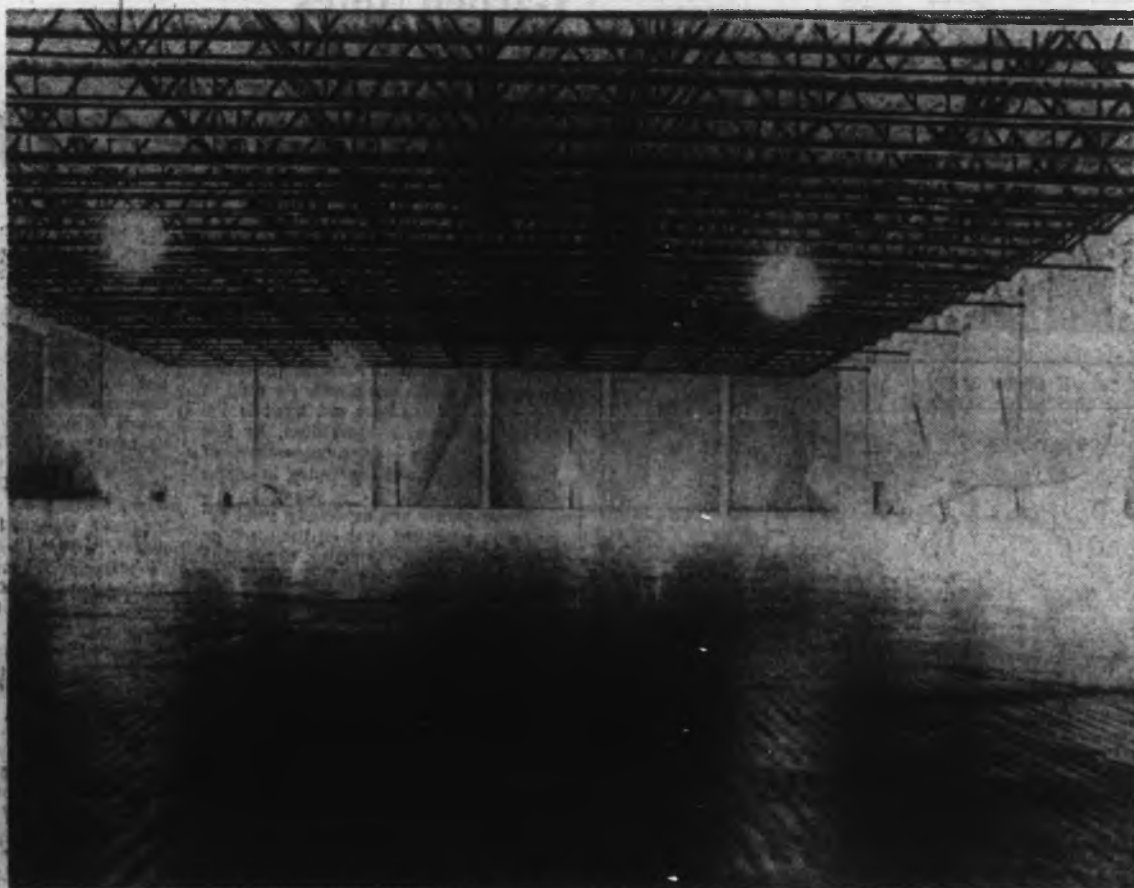

Losing pitcher, Geoff Hett, recently transferred from Calgary, had a lone hit in the first inning, but was out with a triple.

HITTING MANAGER

Manager Ed Senna provided most of the punch for the winners, driving in three runs on two singles.

Regular league action is suspended Sunday, but Nanaimo O'Keefe's which have won the May 24 tournament for the past two years meet Carlton in an exhibition doubleheader at 1:00 and 4:30 p.m.

Luckies: 1st 1-0, 2nd 1-0, 3rd 1-0, 4th 1-0, 5th 1-0, 6th 1-0, 7th 1-0, 8th 1-0, 9th 1-0, 10th 1-0, 11th 1-0, 12th 1-0.

Hill Widens Golf Lead

Dave Hill, who won only $228 in 1962 and gave it all to a destitute woman and his caddy, widened his lead at the mid-way point of the $100,000 Memphis open golf tournament Friday.

Hill fired a 66, giving him a two-round total of nine-under-par 183, his best 36-hole start since winning the Denver Open in 1961.

THE CANADA CUP

A coveted symbol of world golfing supremacy, will be renamed the World Cup. Casatis Clay will fight a 15-round exhibition match in Detroit June 15. His opponent, Alvin (Blue) Lewis, while unbeaten in 10 fights, has never gone more than six rounds. A Canadian heavy-weight champion George Chuvalo hammered a game but outclassed Yves Durelle for five rounds of an exhibition match at Halifax. Jim Ryan of Kelowna bettered four minutes for the second time this year to win the mile while hardly any competition in 3:52.2 in the Coliseum-Compton Invitational track meet at Los Angeles.

regarded by many as the world's outstanding amateur goalie, has signed a contract with St. Louis Blues of the expanded National Hockey League. Bill Hunter, chairman of the board of the Western Canada Junior Hockey League, said the league will not accept a proposed lower age limit for junior players. Graham Hill, driving an all new Ford-powered Lotus, shattered all opposition to set the fastest lap in practice for Sunday's Dutch Grand Prix. Katsuhiko Yamagi, Japanese tennis ace, reached the finals of the Glamorgan, Wales, championships and meets Canadian Davis Cupper Keith Carpenter today. Lesley Turner of Australia and Francoise Durr of France fought their way into the singles finals of the French championships. Romeo Hanover, heir-apparent to the harness horse-of-the-year title, made it 21 straight in the $100,000 International Pace at Yonkers Raceway.

Damascus, Proud Clarion Draw Praise for Drills

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Favored Damascus and second choice Proud Clarion, drilling on tracks some 150 miles apart, drew words of approval from their trainers Friday and then, with eight other lightly regarded 3-year-olds, were entered for the 98th running of the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct.

Damascus, winner of the Prentiss and the 6-5 favorite to take the 1 1/2-mile third leg of the Triple Crown, breezed three-eighths of a mile in 37 3/5 seconds at Delaware Park in a final workout. Then trainer Frank Whiteley Jr., loaded the swift striking colt on a van for Today's running of the Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct Park in New York can be seen on Channel 2, 5, 7 and 12 starting at 2 p.m.

The trip to Aqueduct with the laconic comment:

"He is ready. The blowout was just what I wanted. Keeping him away from Aqueduct shouldn't be a handicap. He knows the track."

REAL SHARP

The star of John Galbreath's Derby Dan Farm clicked off three-eighths in 34 2/5 and went out the one-half mile in 48 2/5 seconds under a tight hold by exercise boy Terry Grogan. The time for the three-eighths compared to a 35 2/5 second clocking posted by Proud Clarion the day before his Derby triumph. "He was feeling real sharp," said the obviously pleased Gentry. "I had to wave him down after three-eighths. I believe he is the type of horse that will go 1 1/2 miles."

The advance betting line, made by the track handicapper, quoted Proud Clarion at 5-2.

Entry fee was paid for Canada's Cool Reception, owned by Mrs. W. J. Setz of Montreal, and her sister, Mrs. Vincent Reid, Toronto. The horse was purchased by the father of the two women, Larkin Maloney from E. P. Taylor's Windfields Farm.

REASON TO HAIL

The $250 fees were also paid for Pauline Jacobs' Reason to Hail, Michael "Pipps" Genleman James, John M. Schill's Blasting Charge, Edgar Zantker's Prinkipo, J. M. Roebbling's Gaylord's Feather, Herbert Alene's Favorable Turn and Mrs. Jane Leven's Neboc's Bullet.

Gene Jacobs, trainer of Favorable Turn, waited until almost the last minute before deciding between the Belmont and the $25,000-added Kent at Delaware Park. An additional payment of $1,000 each is due 45 minutes before the 2:30 p.m. PDT starting time Saturday. If the starting fee is paid by all of the 10, the Belmont will be worth $140,700 with the winner's share $105,850. Second place will be worth $25,000 with $12,500 for third and $6,250 for fourth. The draw for post positions gave No. 1 to Damascus, who's been ridden by Bill Shoemaker. The Belmont will call for his out-like quickness since the race starts midway of a turn with a one-eighth mile dash to the first turn leading to the first of the two long straightaways.

Proud Clarion, with Braulio Bagan, regarding Bobby Ussery in the saddle, will leave from No. 4. He's usually a slow starter, but Gentry looks for Bagan to keep closer to the early pace than Ussery did in the Prentiss, where his closing kick was not enough and

On the basis of past performance, Prinkipo and Cool Reception shape as the early speed horses. Prinkipo, named for the small Mediterranean island on which Leon Trotsky was exiled, has got away winging in his last three starts and won all by wide margins.

MATCHED RECORD

Cool Reception, whom trainer Lou Cavaliere didn't consider quite ready for the Kentucky Derby, matched Woodbine's 1 1/2-mile record of 1:42 3/5 in winning his last start by eight lengths.

The Canadian, with Johnny Sellers aboard, was made the co-third choice at 8-1 with Reason to Hail, a come-from-behind performer who has won a piece of the purse in his last seven starts, including fourth in the Kentucky Derby and Prentiss.

Prinkipo is a 1 1/2-louder.

Tigers Up Sox Down Like Yo-Yo

Chicago White Sox and veteran knuckleballing relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm can be excused for believing that traditionally unlucky number 13 is really unlucky.

Kansas City Athletics defeated the Sox, 6-4, in 12 innings to enable Detroit Tigers, 9-7 winners over New York Yankees, to take over first place in the top-of-the-division race for the league leadership.

Lew Krausse, fourth of five Kansas City pitchers, provided himself with enough runs to bring his record to three wins ahead, 9-0, before New York started to make a comeback. Joe Sparda picked up his fifth victory without a loss with the help of reliever Dave Wickens.

Boston Red Sox moved into third place behind Jim Lonborg's three-hitter, defeating Cleveland Indians, 2-1, on Carl Yastrzemski's two-run homer in the sixth inning.

ROOKIE SHINES

At Baltimore, rookie Tom Phoebus breezed to his third consecutive shutout as the Orioles walloped Washington Senators, 12-0.

Frank Robinson brought his major-league-leading home run total to 15 with a three-run blast in the second inning, but was robbed of a second homer when centre fielder Fred Valentine reached above the fence to deflect the ball onto the field for a two-run double.

Paul Schaal's two-run double gave pitcher Jim McGlothlin and the California Angels a 2-0 shutout over Minnesota Twins,

AGEE ATONES

Agee made up for his mistake by homering in the bottom of the inning, but Billy Pierce came on to retire Pete Ward with two out and two men on base.

Willie Horton's three-run double sparked Detroit to its victory over New York at Yankee Stadium. Tigers went

WILLS HAUNTS BUMS

In the National League, Maury Wills, in his first appearance as a Pirate at Dodger Stadium, came back to haunt Los Angeles by leading Pittsburgh to a 5-3 victory.

Wills drove in the winning run with a triple and scored twice. Vada Pinson's four hits led Cincinnati to a 3-4 extra-inning victory over Atlanta Braves while St. Louis kept pace with the leading Reds by sneaking past Chicago Cubs, 2-1, on a homer by Lou Brock and Steve Carlton's three-hitter.

Island Track Meet

DUNCAN — New running records were established Friday when 800 students from Cowichan and Gulf Islands schools competed in the annual inter-school track meet at Duncan.

Leading the four competing junior high schools on an over-all basis was Quamichan with 354 and one-half points.

Runner up was Mount Prevost with 321 and three-quarter points, followed by George Dever with 289 and one-quarter points and Gulf Islands, 74 and one-half points.

Cups were awarded to Rick Harrison, midjet boys, George Bonner junior high; Des Kinney, junior boys, Mount Prevost; Norman McGeechey, senior boys, Quamichan; Gail Turney, midjet girls, Mount Prevost; Joyce Satchko, junior girls, Mount Prevost; Denise Therrien, senior girls, Quamichan.

John Boxem of George Bonner ran the senior boys one mile, in five minutes and 17 seconds, shaving 10 seconds off last year's record.

All records were broken in the mile event.

Meanwhile, eight members of the Cowichan Valley Athletic Club will take part in the B.C. Open Track and Field Championship at New Westminster, June 10.

The six girls will participate in 100 and 200 yards and a relay race, and the two boys will compete in discus, shot put and 440-yard hurdle.

The young athletes will be accompanied by the club's coach Tom Hamilton.

Cougars Hunted Near Qualicum

QUALICUM BEACH—Five cougars have been sighted during the past few days in the Qualicum area.

Game Branch hunter Dennis Wilders, of Nanaimo, was called in by RCMP and he killed a 70-pound animal at Eaglecrest.

Three have been sighted on one property at French Creek, and another was seen crossing the Island Highway near Bennett Road. Residents have expressed their alarm and the area is being patrolled.

Call for Unity

Union Power Threat Looms Over Councils

By A. H. MURPHY
City Hall Reporter

POWELL RIVER—If municipalities don't get together in a united front they are going to be "kicked around" by one of the strongest unions in the country.

This warning was given Friday by C. S. McKelvey, staff assistant and researcher for the union of B.C. Municipalities, speaking at the annual meeting of the association of Vancouver Island Municipalities.

"The increasing spiral of wage demands and benefits is going to accelerate, simply because one city clerk in a given community doesn't pick up the phone and find out what's going on in a neighboring community," he said.

"Unions are strong and united—they exchange information to their mutual advantage—so why shouldn't we?"

Mr. McKelvey said, "They're playing us one against the other."

He warned that the Canadian union of Public Employees is a tough, hard-driving and powerful organization. He said it is going to make heavy demands in 1968, the year when most contracts are due.

"It's going to be a long, hot summer," said Mr. McKelvey, speaking for what he termed "a group of employers."

Questions which followed Mr. McKelvey's talk indicated municipal people are worried about wage demands.

"It's got like it used to be with the teachers," said a Port Alberni representative.

He asked not to be named, "for fear of reprisals."

"They (the teachers) were underpaid for so long, now they are going overboard."

More than 60 representatives of Island communities were present at the conference, the municipal-union wage problem seemed the primary issue.

The matter of the division of school costs between the province and municipalities did not loom as large as expected.

There was a degree of satisfaction at the impending cancellation of the provincial rule that a five per cent mandatory limit be set on assessment increases in any one year.

The municipalities felt this rule was unfair; as property values rose, so should the municipalities' rights to increase assessment.

And thereby gain more taxation.

Harmac Hearing Off for 10 Days

A request for a hearing on the Harmac certification battle has been postponed for 10 days by the B.C. Labor Relations Board.

The hearing was requested by the certified union at Harmac, Pulp-Saltpetre.

Its bitter rival, the Canadian Pulp and Paper Workers, applied for the certification on May 1, saying it represents the majority of the mill's 950 workers.

40 Boats In Race

LADYSMITH — About 40 Victoria boats will converge here this weekend.

A predicted log race for the squadron cup will be held today, starting from Shute Reef, ending at Manana Lodge, where Sunday's activities will be held.

Bonner Advises:

High Taxes? Then Appeal!

COBBLE HILL — Appeal taxes — that's the suggestion to B.C. residents from George Bonner of Cobble Hill, president of the Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association.

He lent his and his organization's full support to a protest against ever-increasing taxes, voiced recently by Oak Bay taxpayers.

$30 TAX

The residents of Oak Bay, at a ratepayers' meeting, decided to withhold $30 of their tax money.

He said, "They are alarmed about ever increasing school, fire, police and all other municipal expenditures."

"They have our (Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association) full sympathy, but I think it would be wrong to withhold tax money, it's better to appeal."

SPREAD RAPIDLY

"I would like to remind the people of Oak Bay and all other residents in B.C. we had a similar situation in 1952 under the coalition government of Premier John Hart."

"About 300 people from the Cobble Hill and Colwood areas appealed their taxes and this movement spread so rapidly across the province that Premier Hart decided to lower the taxes."

Nanaimo Controversy

Garbage Tip May Be Rezoned

NANAIMO — A small ray of hope filtered through the smoke that sat on Nanaimo during a windless Friday, according to Russ Inkster, who spearheaded a campaign opposing the establishment of a garbage dump on the southern border of Hartwood.

An answer was received to a letter sent to the Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell May 24.

It said that the area in question, in Community Planning Area 6, could not be used unless rezoned.

Besides this, it would be necessary for permission from Mr. Campbell before any such rezoning could be instituted in any unorganized territory.

He said this permission had not yet been given.

Mr. Inkster and his band of volunteers from Hartwood, Chase River, and Extension had gathered 1,520 signatures and retained legal counsel in fighting the proposal for a dump.

He said Friday that the site should be ruled out of consideration, as even if the northern tip should be rezoned, the southern portion is too close to the city.

Nanaimo city engineer Art Leynard, having received a copy of Mr. Campbell's letter, said, "This doesn't change anything, as far as we're concerned."

Regional College Vote

'Yes' Men Call the Action

By ARNOLD OLSON

NANAIMO — The "Get Out And Vote" campaign of Regional College Advisory Committee

tee chief, Jack Whitlam, is starting to snowball into action. Mr. Whitlam this week chose a chairman for the campaign, which seeks to encourage a

'Yes' vote for the 800-capacity regional college, to be built at a cost of $13,000,000. He is veteran campaigner Ald. Jack Parker.

The proposed college site is within a 10-mile radius of a centre six miles north of Nanaimo in the Long Lake area.

Mr. Whitlam also announced a double-barrelled seminar for June 8.

TWO MEETINGS

The Nanaimo PTA will hold one for all its members in the senior high school, and the Parksville Chamber of Commerce will hold another in the Island Hall, open to the public (see page 6).

The education activity is to place all the information possible before the people of School District 68, in preparation for the September 30 plebiscite.

All nine districts north of the Malahat will vote in separate plebiscites, to indicate which districts support the college.

WILL SUPERCEDE

Those which consent will form the regional college district, after which a regional college committee will be struck, superseding all present committees.

Costs, of the college, reduced by grants and other government assistance, will be shared over a combined $3,000,000 assessment in the nine districts.

If one or several of the districts does not participate, costs would decrease in ratio.

PREPARATION

The college would prepare students with two years, tertiary education before entering university.

Some courses for persons wishing to work toward degrees might be included, and technological courses would play a large part in the curriculum.

POSSIBILITIES

Experts from areas where regional colleges are established, predict possibilities for development of secondary industries.

A branch campus is scheduled for the Campbell River area, after the main campus has been built, functioning, and with its curriculum set.

Housing of students who cannot commute to the college will be developed, within reasonable reach of transport.

Shipments Resume As Strike Folds

PORT ALBERNI — After 18 months of inactivity due to a prolonged strike against Noranda mines, shipments of ore from Toqua Bay have resumed passage through customs at Port Alberni.

Harbormaster Don Brooks was able to list one ore ship, carrying 30,000 tons of ore to Japan, in his shipping report for the month of May.

***

"Ore shipments are not listed with regular export shipping," Capt. Brooks explained, "but are noted separately, and show in addition to regular export figures."

***

The month showed 23 arrivals and 30 departures. Lumber exports of 69,686 tons included 28,786 tons of lumber (19,189,000 board feet), 29,271 tons of paper, 8,652 tons pulp, 3,173 tons plywood and two tons of shingles. The harbormaster termed it "a good average month."

Lumber Exports Take a Plunge

CHEMAINUS — Lumber exports from Chemainus and Crofton ports decreased to 29,373,164 board feet in May 1967, from 40,327,473 board feet during the same period last year.

Shipments of newsprint and pulp during May 1966 amounted to 2,316 tons and 20,854 tons respectively.

Repair Work, Improvements for Crofton Wharf

Heavy earthmoving machinery is digging into the Crofton waterfront near B.C. Forest Products' Crofton Pulp and Paper Mill to fill another area adjacent to the company's Osborne Bay wharf. The operation, which will cost several hundred thousand dollars, will allow more room for lumber and pulp and paper storage. The project also includes repair work to the wharf. —(Klaus Muentert)

Failure Could Mean War 'In Hours'—Wilson

Gulf Solution Race Against Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — British Prime Minister Wilson warned Friday that failure to end peacefully Egypt's declared blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba could lead to not only a local war in the Middle East but a much larger conflict "in a matter of hours."

Wilson held a press conference at the British Embassy after spending several hours in conference with President Johnson on the Middle East crisis.

He said the U.S. and Britain are seeking a peaceful solution through action in the United Nations Security Council and through issuance of a declaration on the blockade issue by the world's maritime powers.

The declaration would assert that the gulf and the entrance to it through the Strait of Tiran constitute an international waterway for all shipping. Israel has announced it will sign the declaration, so its shipping would be covered.

Wilson raised the question whether the Egyptian announcement of the blockade two weeks ago, primarily against Israeli shipping, was a threat and whether the blockade would in fact be enforced.

If it cannot be avoided, he said, and if it is enforced "then I believe there is a very, very dangerous state in which not only a local conflict but a much larger conflict might be only a matter of hours."

Tribunal Convicts Physician

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — A military tribunal Friday convicted Capt. Howard B. Levy of disobeying an order to train U.S. Special Forces medics and with promoting disloyalty among United States troops.

Levy, 30, a dermatologist from Brooklyn, N.Y., stood between two lawyers as the verdict was read after nearly six hours of deliberation by the 10-member court tribunal.

Levy's sentence will be decided today. He could receive up to 11 years in prison on five charges.

The trial, which produced unprecedented defence theories, began May 10. But the judge ruled out both the defence efforts to prove that special forces troops committed war crimes and that Levy's medical ethics gave him the right to disobey an order.

In a military trial the tribunal decides the sentence.

Victory Within Reach Strachan Tells NDP

VANCOUVER (CP) — New Democrat leader Robert Strachan predicted Friday night his party will win the next provincial election in British Columbia — if it can duplicate its feat in the 1966 provincial election by gaining another six per cent of the popular vote the next time around.

Mr. Strachan, 53, was addressing the opening session of the party's annual convention at a high school auditorium in suburban Burnaby. He recapped the party's progress during the past year and the last session of the B.C. legislature. (See also Page 24)

"The NDP got 250,000 votes and increased its percentage of the popular vote in the election last September from 28 per cent to 34 per cent," said Mr. Strachan. "A similar increase in the next election will make us the next government of British Columbia."

During his report to the 450 convention delegates from throughout B.C., Mr. Strachan steered away from the leadership challenge issued by Vancouver MLA Tom Berger.

New Democrats will vote tonight on the leadership. Mr. Berger, 34, is giving Mr. Strachan the first serious competition for the job since he was elected party leader in 1956.

Mr. Strachan said the NDP made substantial progress under his leadership in the past year. He said the 16 party members in the 55-seat legislature had done an effective job in "keeping the government off-balance."

Illustrating his performance as a party leader, the Vancouver Island member from Cowichan-Malahat said he had visited universities, public schools, industrial plants, farm and labor conventions promoting the NDP platform.

He drew a standing ovation

UN FACES RED VETO

From CP, UPI, AP

While gloom spread Friday among United Nations diplomats who saw few prospects of any Security Council action that might cool the Middle East crisis, reports from Britain indicated that Russia has no intention of joining the Arabs in a "holy war" against Israel.

U.S. sources said Ambassador Arthur Goldberg is determined to press to a vote his motion calling on all UN parties to heed Secretary-General Thant's call for restraint as to give international diplomacy time to work out a peaceful solution.

The council is scheduled to meet again in an unusual Saturday session at 10 a.m. EDT.

SHORT OF VOTES

But there was no assurance that the U.S. draft resolution would win the required nine votes in the 15-power council. Even if it did, it was regarded as almost certain to encounter a Soviet veto. (See also Page 7.)

Russia was reported Friday to have hinted to its Syrian and Egyptian allies they must not expect direct Soviet support if they start a "holy war" for extermination of Israel.

There was no official confirmation of these reports. But diplomatic circles gave them

Rampage in Sinai?

Ottawa Denies Damage Story

BELGRADE (AP)—The Yugoslav official news agency Tanjug in a report from Cairo said Canadian soldiers in the United Nations forces in the Sinai Peninsula destroyed equipment belonging to the United Nations before they left for Canada.

A Canadian Press report from Ottawa said a Canadian forces headquarters spokesman denied categorically Friday night the Yugoslav news agency report.

The Yugoslav agency said Canadians tried to destroy equipment for turning salt water into drinking water and that Yugoslav soldiers prevented it.

The Canadian spokesman said there was "absolutely no credibility" to the reports. The only material destroyed was Canadian-owned cipher equipment for coding use.

Poison Gas Used Says Red Cross

From AP, Reuters

GENEVA — The International Red Cross committee announced Friday a village in northern Yemen was attacked with poison gas bombs.

The committee did not identify the village or give precise details of its findings.

It expressed "deep concern" over these combat measures which are absolutely banned under international law and said it has communicated the report of its delegation in Yemen to all parties concerned in the conflict.

It invited them to give their solemn pledge "never again" use, under any circumstances, poisonous gas or any other poisonous substance."

Meanwhile, two former British cabinet ministers charged that the United Arab Republic was using poison gas in Yemen.

Duncan Sandy, former Conservative party defence minister, and Frederick Bellenger, a former Labor party secretary for war, presented motion in the House Commons deploring "the continued use of poison gas by the Egyptian forces in the Yemen."

Egypt has denied previous allegations that it has used poison gas in Yemen where it is supporting the republican regime against the monarchists.

The Red Cross announcement said the all-Swiss organization had ordered a medical team to the village after reports that many of its inhabitants had died of asphyxiation following an air attack.

Yemen monarchists charged that Egyptian bombers killed 75 persons in a poison gas raid on the frontier town of Wadran May 11 and that a second poison gas bombing attack killed 100 in another village May 17.

Hey, Landlords!

Strike, Rent Freeze Sparks Riot

NEW YORK (AP)—A riotous mob of 600 landlords stormed city hall Friday hurling rocks and smashing windows after a vain attempt to induce Mayor John V. Lindsay to soften rent-control laws. Two women were injured.

"We want to see our hippie mayor," a leader of the mob shouted.

The demonstrators got nowhere with Lindsay, who refused to see the leaders. The landlords were incensed over city hall efforts to end a strike of building service employees in some 1,000 rent-controlled Manhattan apartment houses.

The mayor accused the landlords of inviting the walkout to wreck rent controls.

Six glass door panes were smashed at the entrance to city hall, and a thrown stone cut the leg of Edie Radley, 28, an assistant secretary to Lindsay, who was standing 25 feet inside the foyer.

Outraged police turned in a riot call and at the height of the melee 150 officers fought the mob. There were two arrests.

Local 32-B, AFL-CIO Building Service Employees. He ordered sanitation men to cross picket lines and begin carting away tons of garbage that had gone uncollected because of the walkout.

The strike of superintendents and employees of rent-controlled Manhattan apartments began May 26. It cut off elevator service, mail deliveries, garbage disposal and heat and hot water for an estimated 130,000 families.

Local 32-B demanded that landlords meet the terms of an earlier contract signed by 4,000 other Manhattan apartment owners, not under rent control. It provided an $18-a-week increase over three years of wages that averaged $85 a week.

The rent-controlled landlords contended they were willing to meet the terms, but only if the city granted them the right to increase rents to compensate for increased operating costs.

Lindsay called this a ruse to wreck rent controls—"simply a device to hold a gun at the head of the city."

Thousands of lunchtime strollers were attracted to the scene by the commotion.

Earlier in the day, Lindsay declared a health emergency as a result of a week-long wage strike by 5,000 members of Lo-drops of packets of money, messages sent through the personals column of the New York Times and finally, a five-block chase and capture.

Fire Destroys Boiler House Popping Glass Injures Two

By BOB PETHICK

Two firemen were injured by flying glass and a boiler house was completely destroyed Friday in a fire at a greenhouse complex at 800 Vernon Avenue.

Saanich police have begun an investigation into the cause of the fire which started in the boiler house located in the centre of a series of greenhouses.

The investigation began after two nine-year-old boys, Don Ash, 3571 Saanich Road, and Robert Oliver, 900 Tattersall, reported they saw some children running from the greenhouse.

FIREMEN CUT

While Saanich firemen battled the blaze in the wooden structure, the fierce heat began popping panes of glass which injured Saanich firemen Al Falck on the knee and Terry Erskine on the hand.

Both were treated and released after being taken to hospital in a private car.

Assistant Saanich fire chief Tom Moss said the blaze had a firm hold on the building before the department was notified, at 3:15 p.m.

Saanich fire department is less than a block away from the complex.

CROWD DRAWN

The high-rising flames attracted a large crowd of spectators from the homebound bound 5 p.m. rush and police placed barricades at both ends of Vernon Avenue to detour the heavy traffic.

The owner, Frank Wright, 1835 Feltham, was out of town, and no estimate of the damage was immediately available, but Mrs. Wright estimated that nearly 80 per cent of the stock was saved.

"We are just lucky that we have warm weather now and don't need the boiler," she said as she walked among the charred timbers and twisted pipes of the structure. "That pile represents $200," said Mrs. Wright pointing to a heap of vermiculite.

FIRST PROBLEM

Mrs. Wright said the immediate problem is to get water hooked up to the stock, which includes chrysanthemums, carnations and bedding stock can be watered. She said the complex was insured.

The greenhouses supply Brown's Victoria Nurseries at 618 View, and the Mayflower Flower Shop Ltd., and as far as Mrs. Wright is concerned today will be business as usual.

$5,000 for Key Corner

Drive-In Operator Shocked by Offer

By GEORGE INGLE

A Victoria drive-in operator who has to move to make way for a provincial historic site parking lot found the government was parsimonious in its offer for her business, this week.

"I was stunned," said Mrs. Edith Loughren, lessee of the building at the corner of Old Island Highway and Admirals where she operates Big Ben's Drive-In, "to hear from my lawyer the government had offered me $5,000."

Her landlord, Ralph Hanson, of 4561 Blisden, said he has been made an offer for the irregular-shaped piece of land, almost an acre, but he did not care to discuss price.

PARKING FOR MUSEUM

The property is intended to be used as a parking lot for historic Craigflower Manor, the newly-acquired museum site on the Gorge adjacent to the drive-in property.

He said he was not at all pleased with the price, which was less than he had asked for, "but I feel there will be a good deal more negotiation."

John Davies of Victoria, Mrs. Loughren's lawyer, said he felt there would have to be considerably more said before any offer was accepted.

IGNORED

Mrs. Loughren expressed displeasure at the manner in which the government appeared to be ignoring her.

"No one has ever been around from the government to discuss the possible purchase with me," she said. "After all, this is my sole means of livelihood."

Mrs. Loughren said "I am flabbergasted by the proposal and thoroughly disgusted with the manner in which the affair has been handled from the beginning."

NO DETAILS

The only contact with the government, she said, was about two years ago, when an assessor from Vancouver came to look the place over. He said he thought it was for some government department, but he wasn't able to supply any details.

Since that time Mrs. Loughren has had to piece together details from a word-of-mouth progress report from Mrs. Gerald Thompson, former owner and now caretaker of Craigflower Manor.

Mrs. Loughren said that she and her husband, who has since left Victoria, started in business six years ago, when the area was more sparsely settled and business was scarce. After hard work and much scraping, they had managed to work up a good business, especially on delivery orders, had managed to pay off the equipment, worth $11,700, and were looking forward to clearing some profits.

Now, Mrs. Loughren is faced with the prospect of a last summer of business (already showing a decline due to general belief the property has been sold), and the prospect of providing a living for her three sons, if it is possible to relocate.

Technology Doing It—Allard

Soldier's Role Changing

By BILL STAVDAL

Technology is creating a new kind of professional soldier, graduating officer cadets at Royal Roads Canadian Services College were told Friday by the chief of the defence staff.

The 160 cadets, all of them studying for degrees in science, were addressed by General Jean V. Allard as they marked completion of two years at Royal Roads.

The graduation ceremony was held in warm, cloudy weather with several hundred onlookers seated on the bank overlooking the parade square. In the distance off shore was the huge bulk of the SEDCO 135F floating oil-drilling rig, undergoing trials.

"The basic qualities of the military have had to be enlarged," said Gen. Allard in his address to the graduating class.

"We are obliged to pioneer in strange new operational environments."

He said soldiers must be familiar with the physical sciences, business management, economics, welfare, law and even medicine.

"Professionalism in the military is coming into its own, and is certainly more respected than it used to be," he said.

"I envy you your future." Gen. Allard predicted that under the leadership of the future officers, Canada's armed forces would become a mobile, flexible and united force. "The most efficient military organization that Canada has ever seen, and something that Canadians will be proud of."

Gen. Allard presented the Governor-General's silver medal for highest second-year academic standing to cadet F. B. Smith of Etobicoke, Ont.

Cadet Wing Commander K. R. Moulden of Dundas, Ont., received three awards: the Lieutenant-Governor of B.C.'s medal for the cadet who made the greatest contribution to the reputation of Royal Roads during the preceding year; the H. E. Sellers' award for the cadet chosen Wing Commander; and the Canadian Army Award, presented to the best second-year army officer cadet.

Expropriation Test In Court in July

The hearing into Saanich's plans to expropriate the McRae Estate will open July 6, probably in the Law Courts building. A municipal official said Friday Saanich's case will be argued by lawyer Louis Lindholm while Robert Price will represent the McRae family.

The issue is the price for the 78.6-acre property. Saanich ratepayers in 1965 approved spending $1,050,000 for land acquisition. Some of this already has been spent on new property near the municipal hall, Gorge Park and the Cordova Bay area.
